Introducing

The New Silks and Satins

THEY'RE here in the widest variety.
To publish even an epitome of the stock of new weaves is almost impossible, so we content ourselves with the assurance that every worthy weave is represented and that specials, such as the following, are exceedingly abundant.

Enforcement of the Illinois ten-hour law for working women, which went into effect July 1, was yesterday prohibited by an injunction issued by Judge

Tuthill in the Circuit Court at Chicago.

State Factory Inspector Edgar T.

Davies was enjoined from bringing suits against employers who work their employees for more than ten hours a day and State's Attorney John E. Wayman was restrained from prosecuting such suits.

Steamers returning to Mexican coast

ports from Soto La Marina, in the State of Tamaulipas, confirm the previous reports of the total obliteration of that village. The tidal wave that overwhelmed Soto La Marina came in the daytime, a fact that gave the population an opportunity to escape to the neighboring hills. The village now lies under water, none of its buildings being visible.

An odd accident occurred at Grosse

Mortier, Austria, during the maneuvers of the Austrian Army. The horses of the Sixth Regiment of Dragoons were stampeded at midnight by a searchlight that was played upon their camp by the approaching "enemy." They ran madly through the camp, trampling on the sleeping soldiers. Nineteen men were severely injured and one was killed.

Jackson Smith, of Knoxville, formerly member of the Panama Canal Commission, has been appointed vice president and manager of the Oregon Trunk Line.

This is a new railroad now under construction in Central Oregon. It is being built by the James J. Hill interests.

Two hundred dollars a ton for broom corn is now predicted by men in the trade. At Arcola, Ill., farmers have refused $170 for corn in the field. The price Tuesday was $100. Buyers are frantic, while the farmers are "standing pat."

The President appointed Prof. Henry

C. Emery, of Yale; James S. Reynolds,

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, and Alvin H. Sanders, of Chicago, members of the new National Tariff Commission. Prof. Emery will be chairman.

Miss Martha Henning, friend and companion of Mabel Millman, has been released from detention, the police believing she has told all she knows regarding the girl's death.

During the past week 256 cases of cholera and 106 deaths from the disease were reported in the provinces of

Tver, Poltava, Novgorod and the city of Riga in Russia.

Henry Clevs says that he knows positively that Edward H. Harriman left

"Merode" Underwear

"Merode" hand-finished underwear will be found especially adapted to the new demands on underwear, both in texture and fit. The prevalent style of dress requires that the underwear should be snug to form without binding and permit the garment to rest without a wrinkle. "Merode" Underwear has these qualities. We carry all fabrics in every shape and size, suitable for all climates. Buttons, tapes, crochet edges, seams and fabric are made with but one idea in view: To make this underwear the most satisfactory that experience could devise.

MORE HONORS FOR DR. COOK

Great Ovation Received At Christiansand.

King Haakon Orders Salute of Seven Guns.

Hails Norwegians As the Original Explorers.

Refers To Peary In a Sarcastic Manner.

IS NOW HOMEWARD BOUND.

On Board the Steamer Oscar II, Sept. 11.—(By wireless telegraph to Copenhagen).—The greeting accorded Dr. Frederick A. Cook upon his arrival this morning at Christiansand, savored strongly of the triumphal return to his own country of a victorious warrior. The American explorer came over from Copenhagen on board the steamer Melchior, and it was 11 o'clock by the time that vessel had cast anchor a cable's length from the Oscar II.

From daylight, however, Christiansand had been watching for the entrance of the Melchior. Every vessel in the harbor was gallantly decorated with flags and all the available small craft had been chartered to bring out sightseers from the shore.

Special Honors For Dr. Cook.

A salute of seven guns was fired from the deck of the Melchior and answered by seven guns from the Christiansand fort. This special honor was accorded Dr. Cook as a civilian on a special order issued by King Haakon.

As soon as the smoke of the saluting guns had cleared away, steam launches darted out from the shore bearing the civil and military authorities to the vessel with Dr. Cook on board. The explorer awaited the officials on the bridge of the Melchior. M. Cold, the manager of the Scandinavian Line who had accompanied him from Copenhagen, stood by his side. The ship's band played "The Star Spangled Banner," while the Norwegian deputations paid homage to the explorer.

Eulogy For Norwegian Explorers.

Dr. Cook, in his reply, eulogized the explorers of Norway. In the course of his remarks he said:

"An explorer cannot receive greater honor than the appreciation of a people who understand him. In Norway you have many explorers, and some of them have been among my dearest friends. I admire the breadth, energy and scientific accuracy of Nansen, but have only had the honor of Sverdrup's acquaintance for the past few days, while your Roald Amundsen is my old friend. No modern work of Arctic exploration has been thought of without consulting Nansen, who by his force and originality has made himself one of the finest explorers in the world. Our success has had a very important relation to the work of Capt. Sverdrup. When his 'New Land' was published, I saw a new route to the pole, but I told no one. The opportunity came to try this route, and Commander Peary seems to be nearly because I did not ask his permission.

Indebted To Sverdrup.

"Over this route our destiny was worked out. I am therefore indebted to Sverdrup, my companions and the people of Norway, who sent him, for the fruit of our contest. Amundsen is starting out for a new polar campaign. He is the man for the prospective work. Now, it is asked: Since we got to the pole, why another expedition? To this I am bound to answer that the book of Arctic exploration has only just been opened. We have been to the boreal center of the world, we have borne all that we could, but we have not yet reached the future generations to do. The next great problem will be the study of the deep sea. This Amundsen will undertake, and all the world should help him.

"Another problem is the tracing of the origin of the Eskimos. A Danish expedition is in prospect for this purpose under Knud Rasmussen. He also needs liberal support.

"You have received me with open arms. Your welcome rings with the cheer of friendship. I am glad I can say that to Nansen, Sverdrup, Amundsen and the people whom you represent, a large share of the credit for this polar contest.

Criticism For Peary.

Paris, Sept. 11.—No one doubts Peary's success, but even those who from the first were skeptical regarding Dr. Cook severely condemn Peary's action in branding his rival as an impostor before an opportunity was given to present the case. It is pointed out that in Peary's hour of victory he could afford to be generous and leave country other man the task of exposing the imposture, such there was.

The faith of Dr. Cook's partisans, on the other hand, and he has many, seems in no wise shaken by Peary's accusations that Cook is trying to steal his glory.

DENMARK REMAINS FAITHFUL TO DR. COOK.

London Newspaper Correspondent Is Nailed In Misrepresenting the Facts In Interviews.

Copenhagen, Sept. 11.—Denmark apparently remains faithful in supporting Dr. Cook. All the Copenhagen newspapers to-day reiterated their belief in him. Sentiment doubtless is a factor in this feeling. The Danes are proud that the explorer visited their country first. Moreover, there is a noticeable prejudice against Commander Peary on account of the reports from the Danish colony in Greenland of his treatment of the Eskimos, and allegations by Capt. Otto Sverdrup that Dr. Cook treated Sverdrup shabbily when

AGAINST FOSTER

Mrs. Jennie Finnegan Brings Suit For Damages.

CHARGES HIM AND TWO PATROLMEN WITH ILLEGAL ACTS.

ALVEY HAIR NAMED DEFENDANT IN TWO ACTIONS.

IN THE COURTS YESTERDAY.

Mrs. Jennie Finnegan, of 2509 Duncan street, filed suit yesterday against Capt. Robert J. Foster and Patrolmen Theodore Twyman and Alvey Hair, naming their bondsmen, also, as defendants. The petition asks for $5,000 as damages for alleged false arrest and wrongful detention at the Fourth district police station. The plaintiff, who is the widow of W. H. Finnegan, sets forth in her petition that she was remaining quietly at her home on the evening of Wednesday, June 2, last, and was engaged in her household duties, when the defendant patrolmen went up to the house, took her into their custody and compelled her to walk with them from her home to the Fourth district station at Nineteenth and Main streets.

She was kept at the station from 8 o'clock until nearly 11 o'clock under Foster's orders, she says. All that time, she further asserts, no single charge was lodged against her, on which she could be presented and prosecuted in the Police Court. Her neighbors and acquaintances saw the police lead her away and she was greatly humiliated and her business has suffered. The bondsmen named as defendants are C. B. Norheim, Charles Yeager, William Schoeller, Dr. John W. Kremer and J. J. Naugle.

Alvey Hair is named as a joint defendant with the Louisville and Northern Railway and Lighting Company in another suit, also seeking $5,000 as damages and which was filed yesterday by Dr. A. E. Rose. Dr. Rose sets forth that on a day in last October he was on a New Albany car of the railway company named as defendant, that he had paid to the conductor the customary fare and was on his way when Hair "unlawfully, forcibly, wrongfully and without reasonable grounds or probable cause and maliciously" seized him, deprived him of his liberty and incarcerated him in a common jail for a long period of time. He was thus brought into "public disgrace, scandal and public notoriety to his great loss and damage, pain and humiliation and suffering both of body and mind so that he was greatly injured in his mind, feelings and character and good name."

Landlady Would Save Furniture.

Accompanying her suit for divorce against Thomas Carpenter with the assertion that he is about to remove the furniture from the house where they have been living and where she has been "taking" boarders, Mrs. Jennie Carpenter yesterday was granted by Judge Miller a restraining order against the defendant. This requires him to leave the furniture alone and to refrain from molesting the plaintiff. The two were married on December 30, 1898, and the cause of action alleged by the plaintiff is cruel treatment. She asks for the restoration of her maiden name of Jennie Rose. The sheriff is directed to find the defendant at the Louisville Lighting Company's powerhouse at Fourteenth and Magazine streets or at 1322 West Broadway.

Court Paragraphs.

—John Hotelich sued the Sewerage Commission, C. T. McCracken & Company and the city for $700, alleged damages to property.

—Andrew M. Sza, Jr., as guardian of George Young, sued the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company for $219, alleged due on a life insurance policy.

—Robert T. Laffey sued the Louisville and Nashville for $15,000 as damages for injuries he suffered when struck by a train at the O-street crossing.

—George Clason sued the Louisville Water Company and C. F. Fitch & Company for $5,000 as damages for injuries he suffered when in the employ of the first-named defendant.

—The Big Four and the New York Central and Hudson River Railway Company sued the English Opera Company and Max Faethenheuer for $208.85, alleged due on a bill for transportation charges.

MRS. BESANT TO LECTURE IN LOUISVILLE.

Mrs. Annie Besant, who will lecture at the Scottish Rite Cathedral Wednesday night on "The Coming Race and the Coming Christ," was born in London in 1847 of English and Irish parents. At the age of 20 she was married to the Rev. Frank Besant, a clergyman of the Church of England.

Always of a mystical nature, she delved deeply into the mysteries of life and death and the various religions. These studies resulted in her renouncing the dogmas of the church, one by one, causing a separation from her husband.

Her first attempt at earning her own living was in association with Charles Bradlaugh as a member of the staff of the Free Thought Journal and lecturer in the cause. Next Mrs. Besant tried to apply the principles of socialism to the poor of London, and suffered many things in the cause.

Mrs. Besant has toured the whole world, giving lectures. One of her notable works is the founding of the Sons and Daughters of India. These are patriotic orders, formed for the purpose of instilling the love of their country into the hearts of the young Indians. She was elected to the presidency of the Theosophical Society of the World upon the death of Col. Olcott in 1897.

Her present tour of America began on August 5, in New York, and has extended through the North and West and will end in New York October 7, when she sails for Ireland for the purpose of establishing lodges there.

FOUND YOUNG MAN

ASLEEP IN THEIR HOME.

When James McGuire and his wife and daughter returned to their home at 732 South Eleventh street after a visit to the park last night they found the house locked and bolted. Becoming alarmed they notified Patrolmen Bloomer and Adams, who were making their corner beat at the time, and their help the house was broken into and they might learn the cause of the trouble.

On the inside, much to their consternation, they found an uninvited guest in the person of Will Smith, in possession. Calmly stating he was totally oblivious to all the trouble he had caused, and until he had received a vigorous shaking from the patrolmen he would wake. He was arrested. His case was continued in the Police Court yesterday morning.

FAIR WEEK CELEBRATION

The South's Highest Class Department Store.

Kaufman-Straus Co.

INCORPORATED.

Beginning to-morrow this store will be open until 6 p. m. daily.

State Fair visitors as well as home folks are invited to call at this store during the coming week and inspect the splendid new stocks of fall and winter merchandise which have been collected from the world's foremost producers. A representative showing will be found in almost every department.

New Linens and Wash Goods.

The new importations of Linens are splendid. They show the greatest care in manufacture and selection. The Wash Goods for the fall and winter season are equally attractive. Three splendid values are quoted below.

Jacquard Teddy Bear Crib Blankets, size 36x50; in pink and blue, 85c.

Crochet Scalloped Bedspreads, full size; $1.85, $2.00 and $2.25.

Save One-third On These Napkins At $2.98 Dozen.

¾-size Irish Linen Napkins, exceptional quality; representing a special purchase and offered at one-third less than their usual price. This is a splendid bargain.

Human Hair Goods.

While this department is only one year old, the splendid qualities, attractive styles and low prices found throughout the entire line have made it well known to the women of Louisville.

It is a noteworthy fact that the prices quoted are from 25 to 40 per cent. lower than those charged in the exclusive hair stores, and the qualities and styles are, beyond question, the very best.

New ideas and conceits are now being shown, and they will interest everyone.

New Millinery.

We are making an early showing of new Fall Tailored Street and Dress Hats in the very latest shapes, from the leading foreign and domestic milliners, also from our own workrooms.

We are also showing a complete line of Untrimmed Shapes, in French felts, beavers, velvets, hatter's plush, moire, faille silks, etc.

A large assortment of all kinds of Trimmings at moderate prices.

Black Lisle and Cotton Hose, embroidered in self colors and fancy colors; spliced heels and toes and double soles; a large selection at, pair, 50c and 75c.

Misses' and Children's Black Ribbed Cotton Hose, in wide or narrow rib; good weight for school wear; have double knees and re-enforced heels and toes, with double soles. Pair 25c.

Women's Fall and Winter Underwear.

This department maintains its usual prestige in showing the largest and best selected assortment of Seasonable Knit Underwear to be found in this section of the country.

While we show the best productions of several of the leading mills of this country and Europe, we direct particular attention to the large line of "MERODE" garments described below:

Light and Medium-weight Hand-finished Vests, Drawers, Tights, Corset Covers and Union Suits; high or low necks; long or short sleeves or sleeveless; ankle or knee length; priced at 50c to $2.00 the garment.

Boys' Clothing for Fall.

In the Boys' Clothing Section we are showing a larger and better assortment of new, snappy styles than we have ever carried. The line embraces Two-piece Suits for boys, ages 7 to 17, in all the new and approved fabrics and styles and in a comprehensive price range. This week we feature—

A splendid line of Boys' Suits, ages 7 to 17, in the leading colors and combinations. One distinctive feature is the split hip effect peg-top Knickerbockers, patented by the manufacturer and shown here exclusively—$7.50.

Boys' and Girls' Reefers for early fall wear; in tan covert, blue serge and a large assortment of fancy mixtures. Ages 2½ to 12 years. This is really an exceptional line at the price—$5.00.

CITY FEATURES.

Fall Styles For Men.
If attracted by some very artistic announcements, you have been impelled to see what was back of them, you surely must have been amply rewarded. Wealth of design, excellence of texture and overwhelming abundance of all, further characterized by extreme moderation of price, are the impressions the seeker immediately receives upon looking around in the store of The English Woolen Mills Co., on Fourth avenue, during the present fall opening. Finicky and exacting as only a man can sometimes be (dadies will please note the implied compliment), it is not creditable that such an one could fail to find his ideal here or even something better and better. Manager McGeehan says the stock for this fall and coming winter outlasts all previous displays in every way—and it was doubtless the enthusiasm of this fact that has prompted the most artistic tailoring advertising of the period. As to fall fashions so much has already been printed in the newspapers and magazines, that rehearsal of it in this brief mention of a very attractive "opening" would serve no purpose. One is as welcome to look around and ask questions as to buy. An attractive new stylebook will be handed him, and he will be shown, very courteously, all that he is interested in. Manager McGeehan took pains to explain that recent woolen advances, of which one read so much during the tariff tinkering, have had no effect on his goods, which were contracted for directly with the mills months ago, and were landed here without intermediate profit or surcharge. He said that all of which foreshadowed busy days for The English Woolen Mills Co.

PRETTY GIRLS

Aided Much In Making Capital Fair a Success.

THEY CAPTURE MANY PRIZES IN HORSE SHOW RINGS.

SOCIETY'S SWAY SUPREME IN FRANKFORT LAST WEEK.

INCIDENTS OF THE BIG SHOW.

(Special Correspondence Courier-Journal.)

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 11.—The venture of the Capital Fair directors was a success in every line. The women of Franklin county took an absorbing interest in the horse show and the "show ring" alike added to the laurels of the Kentucky woman.

In the ring for the best woman rider, Miss Mason Montgomery won the blue ribbon and the purse. Miss Montgomery is one of the handsomest of the Franklin county set and sells a horse beautifully. Miss Cheatham Montgomery took the red ribbon. Miss Rodman is also at home in the saddle and a fearless horsewoman. The other entries in this ring were Miss Natalie Rodman, who owns and rides a beautiful horse and is considered a capable horsewoman, and Miss Mary Eleanor Quarles. Miss Quarles was the lucky winner of the $25 in gold for being the best-looking young woman at the fair and the prize for the crowd did not differ with the judges.

Other Prizes At Fair.

For the best saddlehorse, Miss Anne Baker won the blue ribbon and was the only woman entered in that ring. Miss Baker's horse is wonderfully clever, and dandified in every respect and anything else he is told to do. In this ring Mr. Percy Hoge won the red ribbon. Miss Montgomery's horse in the lead driving horse class took the red ribbon and the $300 prize. The baby show elicited the largest amount of attention from the women, at least. All kinds of babies were there tied up in pink and blue and it was a brave set of women who agreed to be judged. After an infinite amount of time and patience had been wasted the twins of Edna and Mrs. Thomas Spencer were awarded the blue ribbon. That is, the Spencers had it over the other babies shown—they had two bits of adorable humanity on other parents' one. The judges were Mrs. Richard Lowndes, of Danville, the proud owner of Edna Mary, the wonder horse who has something like her first prize on her credit. Which proves a woman's great versatility in being able to judge babies. Mrs. Bernard Graham, of Berea, was another, and Miss McDonald, of Danville, the third.

For Attractive Louisville Girl.

Miss Natalie Martin had for her guest last week a most attractive Louisville girl for a visitor. She is Miss Elsie Harvey, and she was in the city quite while here. On Friday Miss Martin gave her a musicale, and the guests about 11 o'clock with a Dutch lunch.

A delightful feature of the evening's enjoyment was the presence of the Mandolin and Guitar Club, composed of several of the society boys.

Bridge Party.

On Saturday Miss Martin gave a very enjoyable bridge party for her guest. The Martin home is one of the prettiest in the city, and on this occasion was unusually so with pink and white flowers for decorations. The prizes a pair of silk hose, was won by Miss Mary Swigert Hendrick.

For Miss Duke and Miss Hunt.

Mrs. Dyke Hazlerigg has joined the "society of newly weds" in Watson court, where the house is a new green and brown, and look for all the world like pictures in the Ladies' Home Journal. Having furnished the picturesque bungalow, she gave her first party on Tuesday evening for her guest, Miss Mary Duke, of Mayville, and Miss Sallie Hunt, of Greenville. Miss, the guest of Mrs. Mary Haycraft.

After a spirited game of bridge, in which Miss Hunt captured the prize, a delicious luncheon was served to about twenty-four guests.

Reception and Musical.

Miss Bertha Scott gave a musical and reception to the two new teachers who will assist her in making her school a success this year. The musical was given at the home of her father, Col. J. A. Scott, and the decorations were in scarlet and red. The new teachers were Miss Elizabeth Miller, of Lanesville, N. Y., will be the music teacher this year and she gave several brilliant selections. Afterward the reception was given at the small brown schoolhouse back of the residence. Prizes and less were served during the evening. Miss Marion

OPENING WEDGE INTO TENEMENT REFORM

ARE PLANS FOR THE MODEL HOUSE

UNDER CONTEMPLATION BY UNION GOSPEL MISSION.

IT WILL COST $50,000.

COURIER-JOURNAL SALES ON THE STREET CARS.

Plans for a model tenement house, announced by the board of managers of the Union Gospel Mission, bear fruit, a wedge of reform will have been driven, it is anticipated, into the difficult problem of improving the conditions under which hundreds of the poor or citizens are housed in the congested sections. The recent and illuminating report of the Louisville Tenement House Commission, whose investigations reveal most distressing conditions, emphasizes the imperative need of a solution of a serious question, which was appropriated fully by the board of managers of the Union Gospel Mission in making their decision to canvass Louisville the last week in September for $50,000, with which to start the work of reform.

Proper sanitation and ventilation and necessary comforts and conveniences, so often ignored in the construction of tenement houses, to the detriment of the occupants, will be carefully considered in the erection of the three-story brick tenement planned for the Green-street side of the mission property between First and Brook streets. Here thirty or more families will have a chance to live under greatly improved conditions compared to those prevailing now in many sections.

In addition, it is proposed by the board of managers to use a part of the money raised in building two storehouses on the property, fronting Jefferson street. The rent from these, and the small rates charged tenants in the Green-street building will help the institution to become self-supporting, it is hoped. Better equipment for the various departments of philanthropic work, free baths in the basement of the present building and a domestic science department for girls thrown on their own resources, are some of the other improvements considered.

J. C. Mahon, Dr. S. S. Watts and L. R. Williamson, members of the board of managers, compose the campaign committee. Others directly engaged in the work were Mrs. Conner M. Ogden of St. Louis, Miss Elizabeth White, of Augusta, Ga., and Mrs. Charles P. Weaver, who will act as financial secretary. The action of the board of managers has the sanction of the members of about 100 Protestant churches, which own the institution.

News vending machines are now in operation on all of the street cars on the East Broadway and West Jefferson street lines, twenty-six cars being equipped. The machines have been given a thorough test and they have worked satisfactorily to both the patrons, street car officials and the local distributing company. Every car now running on this line will contain the Courier-Journal to-day and it will only be necessary for Mrs. Conner M. Ogden to place in the slot to receive a copy of his favorite paper.

T. J. Minary, president of the Louisville Railway Company, and R. H. Smith, general manager, are pleased with the operation of the machines. That they have pleased the patron of the company by installing the machines is demonstrated by the many favorable expressions. The news vendor is such a convenience to the newspaper reader and has rendered such excellent service that they will soon be installed on the other lines. The demand for the automatics is far in excess of the supply and the factory is unable to turn them out fast enough.

If you take a real interest in what you wear—in what you eat—in what you buy for your home—in your "fads," your "whims," your amusements—you'll take a real interest in to-day's ads.

CURTIS FLIES FOR THE GRAND PRIX

WOMEN THROW KISSES TO DARING AMERICAN.

BLEIROT WILL BE MOST DANGEROUS COMPETITOR.

SPEED NOT UP TO RECORD.

Brescia, Italy, Sept. 11.—Glenn H. Curtiss, the American aviator, started flying for the Grand Prix late this afternoon. He covered the first lap, ten kilometers (6.21 miles) in 10 minutes and 8 seconds.

Curtiss made his second lap in 9 minutes and 52 seconds, his third in 9 minutes and 17 seconds and his fourth in 9 minutes and 59 seconds. This gives him a total for the five laps of 49 minutes and 11 seconds. This rate of speed is below that made by Curtiss at Rheims. His best time there for ten kilometers was 8 minutes 11 3/5 seconds. Bleirot at Rheims covered the same distance in 7 minutes 47 4/5 seconds.

The aviator was frankly applauded as he circled sped around the course; handkerchiefs, hats and parasols were waved in the air, and the women threw kisses to the popular American.

The Grand Prix race goes to the flyer making fifty kilometers (31.05 miles) in the best time, and carries an award of $10,000.

Curtiss' most dangerous competitor is Bleirot, who has sped around the course in 9 minutes and 55 seconds. The American covered his fifth and last lap in 9 minutes and 55 seconds.

TWELVE PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM JAIL.

Madisonville, Tenn., Sept. 11.—Twelve prisoners escaped from the Monroe county jail at this place last night. Two prisoners, a white man and a negro, overpowered a "trusty," whose duty it was to feed the prisoners. As he was serving supper last night he was attacked, and while one man held him the other unlocked the cells and liberated all the prisoners. A posse went in pursuit, but none of the escaped had been captured up to this morning.

SWIMMER RUN DOWN IN HELL GATE.

Big Steamer Could Not Stop In the Swift Current.

New York, Sept. 11.—As the steamboat Richard Peck entered the narrow channel of Hell Gate the pilot sighted in mid-channel and struggling with the eddies, a swimmer who was afterward found to be Robert J. Douglass, of Astoria. As the channel was too narrow for the steamboat to be turned aside or of running down the swimmer. He sounded the alarm whistle, but Douglass was unable to get out of the way and was run down and drowned. Douglass had served in the navy and gained a reputation as a swimmer. He had an ambition to cross Hell Gate, and at that time of the tide and was attempting the feat when he lost his life.

SCHOOL TEACHER KILLS HIS PUPIL.

Uses Revolver When Youth Advances With Knife.

Gravette, Ark., Sept. 11.—John Butram, a pupil, was killed yesterday by his teacher, A. T. Kelly, at that time of the tide and was attempting the feat when he lost his life.

When Kelly took the school he went "prepared to teach." Young Butram is said to have announced that there would be no school yesterday, and Kelly insisted that the session would continue as usual. During the discussion Butram drew a knife, whereupon Kelly shot him. Kelly surrendered.

BIG FORTUNES
NOT KEPT INTACTMakers' Estates Lose Power
With Second Generation.Vast Accumulations Soon
Widely Distributed.Sage Only Great Financier
To Die Childless.

HARRIMAN GIVES TO KIN.

Washington, Sept. 11.—(Special.)—That the piled-up wealth of the great captains of finance will in time become so huge that all the rest of the country's population will one day be dependent upon a few money kings is a cry very often raised, but the actual facts show that these vast accumulations soon become widely distributed and lose practically all of their power with the second generation.

E. H. Harriman left a fortune of approximately $100,000,000. Under his will he divided among five children and his widow, with considerable sums going to other relatives.

H. H. Rogers, who died last spring, left also approximately $100,000,000, and under his will it goes to four children and his widow. Already there are nine grandchildren to share in a further division.

Russell Sage Childless.

Russell Sage, who died July 22, 1905, was the only great financier of recent years to die childless. He left $66,753,000, and of this his widow inherited $62,778,000. Since his death Mrs. Sage has spent immense sums for philanthropic purposes, and the bulk of what she leaves will, on her death, go into the same channels.

Vanderbilt Division.

Cornelius Vanderbilt left an estate of $72,500,000, and $69,500,000 was divided in different proportions among his five children. His second son, Alfred G., got the largest amount, $44,000,000, and Cornelius, his second son, the smallest, $1,500,000.

But to avoid a contest Alfred G. gave Cornelius $6,000,000 of his share.

The Gould Fortune.

Jay Gould left $72,000,000, and it was divided among six children. George, the eldest son, received the largest share, and the other five children equal shares. All of them, with the exception of Helen, the eldest daughter, married, and of the five who married all have children except Howard. Thus these five captains of finance who left $411,000,000, this great sum has passed, or will pass to twenty children without counting the widows.

Bureau of Soils.

Under a reorganization of the field force of the Bureau of Soils Dr. J. A. Bonsted has been put in charge of the general work. H. H. Bennett is made inspector in charge of the work in the Southern States east of the Mississippi.

Much of this force is now making surveys in Alabama and Tennessee. During the past summer, this fall and winter about 40,000 square miles will have been surveyed in the United States.

Not Enough Police For Negroes.

There is hardly a day passes that some negro of the National Capital's 38,000 of them resident here, does not snatch a woman's purse or commit a worse outrage. The police seem powerless to do anything.

Washington probably has under Maj. Sylvester, the superintendent, the most efficient body of men of any city in the country, but it is woefully lacking in numbers and unable to cope with what seems to be a constantly growing criminal class. The wonder is that they detect as many as they do. Of course the fault lies directly at the door of Congress, which allows the city a mere corporal's guard compared with its absolute needs.

COUNTS ASIDE IN NEW YORK.

CLAIM NOTE WAS SECURED.

New York, Sept. 11.—The indictments charging F. Augustus Heinze, the copper financier, with conspiracy to obstruct the administration of justice by concealing the books of the United Copper Company were dismissed to-day by Judge Hough of the United States Circuit Court. The books were under subpoena of the Federal court last spring when the courts were investigating Mr. Heinze's action as president of the Mercantile National Bank in sustaining the firm of Otto Heinze & Co., during the financial panic of 1907. The accounts which were wanted could not be found by the Federal officers and Heinze's indictment followed.

Judge Hough to-day also dismissed fifteen of the sixteen counts in an indictment also pending against Mr. Heinze charging him with misapplication of the funds of the Mercantile National Bank by discounting notes and certifying checks of the firm of Otto Heinze & Co.

One of the indictments alleging misapplication of funds of the bank by Mr. Heinze was approved by Judge Hough.

Judge Hough in dismissing the fifteen counts of the indictment charging misapplication of the funds of the bank said that those counts seemed to him to charge that Heinze, for the benefit of himself and others unnamed, caused the bank to discount a single name commercial paper and the bank lost the amount paid. The judge said it would be necessary to maintain an action for conversion of the proceeds of the note, which he did not believe could be done. He, therefore, threw out those counts.

The sixteenth count, which was allowed to stand and upon which Heinze may be tried, covers his loss of $500,000 from the Mercantile National Bank upon his personal note on October 14, 1907. Heinze's counsel claims the note was secured by stocks now worth $700,000.

PLAN TO CHANGE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL COMMITTEE TO VISIT OTHER CITIES FOR TIPS.
LOOKING AT A SITE ON MAGNOLIA STREET.
THE TRUSTEES ARE SILENT.

Tentative plans to transfer the Louisville Industrial School from the present location at Third Avenue and Shipp street to some other site in the city more suitable for the purpose of the institution are under way according to information received yesterday. Although no definite or official announcement could be obtained, it is said on good authority that the institution is to be moved to a site on Magnolia street, somewhere between Sixth and Eighth street as soon as a deal now pending for a big tract of real estate is consummated. In this event it is reported that the property now controlled at Third Avenue and Shipp street will be sold and the consideration received expended toward establishing a new and thoroughly up-to-date reform school for the city of Louisville.

Although appointed less than a week ago, the committee empowered to make observations on the new school project, composed of Frank C. Nunemacher, chairman, Joseph E. Conkling and George W. Smith, have already formed definite plans. The members of the committee will depart for the East to-day and to-morrow where it is the intention to spend much time inspecting industrial institutions and the methods employed for training boys and girls in the big cities.

It was definitely stated yesterday that the members of the committee will not leave here together. Mr. Nunemacher will start to-night and will be followed later on by his colleagues. At any rate the three men will meet in Philadelphia next Wednesday and will be together from then on. They will visit and inspect institutions similar to the one in Louisville. Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, New York, Baltimore and probably one or two other cities before they return and submit their statement to the board that appointed them.

Mr. Nunemacher was asked yesterday if he cared to be authority for the statement that the proposed new industrial school will be transferred to the site on Magnolia street which, it is said, the city is now trying to buy. He said he was in position to talk about the matter right now, but added that Louisville is to have one of the finest industrial schools in this section of the country.

FIFTY-SEVEN CLASSES FOR HORSE SHOW.
Prize List Out and Notes Plates and Premiums Valued At $10,000.

President A. J. Carroll, of the Louisville Horse Show, announced yesterday the publication of the prize list for the tenth annual exhibition of the show, which will be held at the armory the week of October 11. The prize list will be sent out to exhibitors all over the country, and assurances have already been given that the leading owners of show horses in the country will enter.

There are fifty-seven classes announced, and they will carry prizes, including plate and special premiums, of more than $10,000. The list of special awards is especially notable. Some handsome cups will be contested for, and as these trophy contests are always warm, the Horse Show is certain to produce some stirring encounters.

Some of the special awards are the Kentucky Farm Cup, for six horses; the Maryland Challenge Cup, for four-in-hand; a silver medal given by the American Hackney Horse Society for hackney stallions; a $500 special award to high jumpers, if the record should be broken; premiums by the Breeders' Exchange, the American Saddle Horse Breeders' Association, the Retail Merchants' Association, Paul Jones & Co. and M. L. Akers, former president of the show, and a cup offered by the Kaufman-Strauss Company.

The arrangement of the classes is of interest. Nine are for single harness horses, including the championship class, and five are for harness pairs, with the championship class included. There is an open and a local class for runabouts, together with four classes for four-in-hands. Four classes have been provided for roadsters, including one for roadster pairs, while three classes have been arranged for hackney harness horses. There are two classes for judges' turnouts, single and pairs, and three classes for tandems, always a spectacular and interesting event.

The three-gaited saddle horses will be shown in five events, including the championship, and the same number of classes has been set aside for the five-gaited saddlers. Championships in both classes will be hard fought, as the honors are being contested at the highest given to saddle horses anywhere in the country.

Local classes are numerous, and all divisions are taken care of. There are three classes for single harness horses and one for pairs. Ponies will be shown in harness and under saddle, and three-gaited and five-gaited horses will be seen also. There are classes for the horses of the police and fire departments and those for delivery outfits.

Hunters and jumpers, which furnish the most exciting sport seen at the Horse Show, will be shown every night. As there are six classes for them, one is to be put on the programme each night. The classes are arranged according to the weight the horses are expected to carry, and the final class is for high jumpers, in which the special award of $500 referred to will be given if the record is broken.

BUSINESS WITH MEXICO ON DOMESTIC BASIS.
A circular has been issued by A. L. Lawless, Third Assistant Postmaster General, informing the Louisville post-office officials that after September 31 the money orders issued with Mexico may be transmitted on a domestic basis. The domestic fee for $100 is 30 cents, while the international fee is 50 cents. The local post-office does only a small amount of business with Mexico—about 100 money orders in twelve months—but the new arrangement will mean much to border States. Domestic rates are already in use between the United States, Canada and Cuba.

Two Test Suits
One in Kentucky, one in Indiana, have been won recently by this school. Our graduates have succeeded in business, in professions, in the most favorable manner of persons, who have contracted with us, into trouble. All such persons will now have court costs and lawyers' fees to pay, and have a judgment recorded against them for what they owe us. Suit will be filed against those who have broken their contracts with us.
Our would-be competitors are causing our patrons all this trouble. They are advertising them to break contracts in order to get their business, which by contract belongs to us. This is an acknowledgment that they cannot compete with us on a merit basis. The work of commercial schools is to train people in the right way of making contracts. You can't get this instruction at schools that advise you to break a contract in order to get a few of your dollars that you contracted to pay to us. Such schools are starting you out in life on the wrong track. They are teaching you that DISHONESTY is better than HONESTY. Shun the man who advises you to do wrong in order to get your money; he is worse than a "snake in the grass."

THE PATTERSON-DAVENPORT SCHOOL FOR BOYS.
A BOY'S FUTURE depends most of all upon the training he gets between the ages of ten and eighteen. He has a RIGHT, therefore, for the most favorable influence and it is the parents' DUTY to find the BEST SCHOOL. A school is to be judged by its TEACHERS, its PUPILS and its RESULTS.
THE TEACHERS of the PATTERSON-DAVENPORT SCHOOL are scholars of high reputation. They are not young men learning their profession by experimenting on the students under their care.
THE PUPILS of this school come from the representative families of Louisville. The students are carefully guarded from all bad influences, social, moral and physical.
The results of this system of training are shown in the fact that for eight years the school has had HONOR MEN in the great universities of the East.
The school is under the supervision of the presidents of the University of Louisville. Write for catalogue, PATTERSON-DAVENPORT SCHOOL, 1620 Third Avenue, Louisville, Ky.

YOUNG WIFE ENDS LIFE WITH PISTOL

MRS. JANE PERIN, OF PHILADELPHIA, FOUND DEAD IN LONDON.

London, Sept. 11.—Mrs. Jane Perin, a young American, committed suicide this morning at Harrow-on-the-Hill. She shot herself with a revolver. Mrs. Perin, who was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ackroyd, the former music master of Harrow-on-the-Hill school, was found dead in the conservatory with her revolver by her side.

Mrs. Perin was the sister-in-law of Mrs. Ackroyd's sister, in-law. No reason for the tragedy yet has been divulged, and it is said that Mrs. Perin left no letters. An inquest will be held Monday.

Went Abroad With Husband.
Philadelphia, Sept. 11.—The news of the suicide of Mrs. Perin created a sensation here. Her name was Mrs. Jane Gordon Sartori Perin, and she was well known in Philadelphia and Baltimore society circles. She was the daughter of the late Gen. Victor A. Sartori, at one time an American Consul in Switzerland. Mrs. Perin was born in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Perin left Baltimore and sailed from New York with her husband, Lawrence Perin, on April 28.

Mrs. Perin was married about four years ago, the wedding being the sequel, it is said, to an elopement.

BANKERS AND FACTORS TO HANDLE COTTON.

Oklahoma and Texas Planters Show Their Gratitude For Past Favors.

Galveston, Tex., Sept. 11.—John C. Albritton, representative of the Farmers' Union of Texas and Oklahoma, closed a contract to-day with Galveston bankers and cotton factors to handle through this port the cotton of the cotton producers of the two States mentioned. The value of the cotton to be consigned to Galveston by this contract will be close to $100,000, and is one of the largest transactions of its kind on record in cotton States. It is the result of Galveston's bankers and cotton factors coming to the rescue of the cotton producers of Texas and Oklahoma during many troubles of the years 1907 and 1908.

MOTHER-IN-LAW AND SON-IN-LAW FOUND DEAD.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—The bodies of Peter Wolf, 56 years of age, and Mrs. Mary Gulen, 55 years of age, mother-in-law of Wolf, were found to-day in their home at 1445 North Oakley avenue. The couple had been asphyxiated by gas, which was discovered issuing from the kitchen stove. The police have started an investigation into the case.

BIG DELEGATION

GOING TO THE BANKERS' CONVENTION IN CHICAGO.

Effort Will Be Made To Have a Model Bank Tax Law Indorsed.

When the big annual convention of the American Bankers' Association convenes in Chicago Tuesday, Louisville will be well represented. To-night at 9:30 o'clock the advance guard of the local party will pull out from this city and Chicago in the morning via the Pennsylvania lines; they will be met in Chicago Tuesday morning by a dozen or more local bankers who have found it necessary to leave units to-morrow morning. Oscar Fenley, A. Y. Ford, S. B. Lynd, James B. Brown, John J. McHenry, Logan C. Murray, Henry C. Walbeck, John H. Leathers and Joshua D. Powers are among those who will leave to-night to attend a number of preliminary committee meetings in Chicago to-morrow morning.

These bankers of Louisville who will be detained in the city on business will watch with interest the proceedings at Chicago, for they know full well that the delegation representing them will strain every effort to have the convention adopt a new bank tax system which has been under consideration here for two years.

James P. Helm is one of the authors of the new method. Mr. Helm about two years ago began work on a booklet entitled "Suggestions as to the Value and Feasibility of Uniform Tax on Banking and Trust Company Capital, with a Review of the Statutes and Customs of Assessing in the Several States." The booklet has been widely distributed and has been the subject of many meetings and conferences with a copy of the First National Bank here, will meet and confer with Mr. Helm in Chicago Tuesday morning with a copy of the booklet. The entire local delegation will seek to have a committee report favorably on it at the general assembly.

The association adopted it so that the bankers from all over the nation can bring their influence to bear upon Congress with a view to having the work made a national law governing every national bank in the country.

Mr. Brown expressed much confidence in the local delegation and believes that in the local delegation will be successful in having it approved by the bankers. He said that the work made a national law in the book is perfect in every detail and withal possesses merit in no small degree.

REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE TO MEET.

Robert H. Winn, chairman of the Republican State central committee, has issued a call for a meeting of the committee at the Galt House in this city at 12:30 o'clock, Wednesday, September 13. The object of the meeting is to discuss the campaign for the election of a U. S. Senator, secretary of the committee, said, was to discuss the political situation throughout the State, and the city of Louisville. The notices of the meeting were mailed yesterday by Secretary Bennett. At the meeting a State campaign committee will be selected. It is highly probable that Robert H. Winn will be made chairman of the campaign committee, as he held that position last year.

GREAT WORK

Done by the Baby Milk Fund Association.

HANDICAPPED BY THE LACK OF SUFFICIENT FUNDS.

WANT TO KEEP MOVEMENT ALIVE DURING WINTER.

WHAT WAS ACCOMPLISHED.

In a few more days, as the weather begins to cool and Indian summer brings hazy days and Jack Frost, one of the most worthy charities that has ever blessed Louisville—that which has "saved the babies," will suspend operations for the winter. This is the Baby Milk Fund Association. Not that the great and good work will have been finished, for it is an endless task, but mainly because the funds which have kept alive the mission during the summer are exhausted, and the members of the association have to go out of business, so to speak, for a time, until it can reconvene.

Of six pure milk stations that have been furnishing wholesome, certified and modified milk to hundreds of "the least of these," two have already been abandoned, and the others will close one by one as the money gives out. It is probable that there are thousands of people in Louisville who do not give a thought to the movement.

phernalia acquired, and a source of pure milk supply obtained.

Not To Make Money.

Then the campaign opened full blast and it was not long before the mothers brought their babies and arranged to get proper food for the little ones. Established primarily for humanitarian purposes, the association was not out for money, so it arranged a schedule of prices for the certified and modified milk which was below the cost of production—8 cents or 10 cents a quart, sums merely nominal. When a child was brought in and registered, it was examined by a physician, weighed, and after careful calculations had been made, the child was prescribed for— the prescription being a certain strength of milk; lactical fluid containing the required proportions of the various component parts of milk. In many cases the mothers were also examined, and if they were lacking the necessary physical strength to feed the child, they were prescribed for, given the certified milk or buttermilk to drink, and the children were "fed by proxy," Mrs. Rogers said.

When it seemed best to feed the child artificially the food was made to conform as far as possible to the various percentages of the parts of natural milk. This was done by modification. For instance, if a child with weak digestion was brought in, common sense told that the infant could not wax fat and "husky" on the ordinary strength cow's milk, for the bovine product is stronger than the natural milk and contains 5 to 8 per cent. of butter fat, as against the 2 to 3 per cent. of butter fat in natural milk. It would be necessary to reduce the percentage of butter fat and yet hold the high percentage of the other constituent parts. The modifying was a delicate operation, and as each infant was an individual case to be looked after, the nurse who prepared the modified product had all she could do. Every week the babies under treatment were weighed and examined, and the

FROM BOTTOM

Judge Lovett Was Plowboy On Father's Farm.

LATER BECAME LOCAL AGENT BY MR. HARRIMAN.

BROUGHT FROM TEXAS TO EAST BY MR. HARRIMAN.

MUCH RELIED ON BY LATTER.

Judge Robert Scott Lovett, who appears to be slated to succeed E. H. Harriman as head of the Harriman system of railroads, was a plowboy before he got into the railroad business. Like his dead chief, he began life at the bottom and worked his way up to the top by giving and taking hard knocks with the world, says the Chicago Record-Herald.

He was born June 22, 1880, on his father's farm near Shephard, Tex. The family was poor; the farm itself was far from a rich one and everybody in the household had to do his share of the work in order to make both ends meet.

Following a plow one day when he was 15 years of age up to the crest of a sandy hilltop on his father's farm, he caught, for the first time in his life, a glimpse of a railroad locomotive. The Houston East and West line was being built toward Shephard from the city of its name and a work train, operating on narrow gauge tracks, had pushed its way close to the Lovett home with a load of Young Lovett was fascinated at once and that same day had the satisfaction of inspecting the engine and its crew. He did some odd jobs around the railroad camp, driving a team which hauled ties and rails.

After the road was built, young Lovett went to Shephard, where he got work as a delivery boy in a general store at $10 a month. His interest in railroads continued and in the course of time he left the store and went to work for the Houston East and West as the local agent.

After having saved a little money he began the study of law, and in order to increase his library facilities gave up his job at Shephard and moved to Houston, where C. B. Liddell gave him a place in the local freight office at $10 a month. A little later he was admitted to the bar and went back to Shephard to try cattle cases for the Houston East and West line. He attracted the attention of his employers, who gave him an entire district to look after.

Lovett's next step in advance came when he was appointed general counsel for the Texas and Pacific road at Dallas. The Houston interests were then in the South and reaching out to make a system.

Refuses Gould Offer.

Despite the fact that George Gould offered to give Lovett a fine position at a big salary, he declined and became one of the firm of Baker, Scott, Baker & Lovett, representing the Southern Pacific. In that

Women's High-Grade Tailored and Lingerie Waists

None Worth Less Than $2.00 and Many Values Up To $10.00; On Sale Monday, Each 68c

Every woman knows the importance of having an ample supply of Waists and not a few realize that to have as many as one needs means a considerable outlay, but such is not the case here Monday, for you may purchase

A Season's Supply for the Usual Price of One.

The buyer of this section, while in New York recently, purchased this remarkable underpriced lot of 200 dozen High-grade Waists at a veritable sacrifice in price, and while it represents the entire surplus stock of the season's best styles of one of the foremost manufacturers of women's waists in this country, the lot is composed almost exclusively of such dainty and attractive styles in Tailored Linen and Lingerie Waists as invariably appeals to the refined taste of every shirt-waist wearing woman.

Tailored Silk Flannel Waists In Striking Novelty Patterns.

Here are values of exceptional merit. Tailored French Silk Flannel Waists in satin stripe and very handsome novelty patterns; the material alone in this particular waist is worth more per yard. All are tailored upon the latest designs. All sizes.

Tailored White Plaited Waists With Laundered Collars and Cuffs.

An extra special value in handsome Tailored White Broad Plaited Waists; also a few styles in hand-embroidered fronts and the small and knife plait effects. All of these waists are perfectly laundered fronts, collars and cuffs. All sizes.

Dainty White Lingerie Waists Embroidered and Lace Trimmed.

Here is also a splendid value, worth many times the price. They are made of an extra fine quality of batiste, fancy lace trimmed, in both long and short sleeve styles, in a large and varied assortment of late lingerie designs. All sizes.

Fine Imported French Madras Waists-In White and Colors. Latest Tailored Styles.

This special lot of Tailored Waists are the same waists you have paid many times the price for in the past. They are made of fine French madras, in both fancy stripes and checks in all colors; also fine imported figured white madras. All sizes.

Handsome White Linen Waists.

Extraordinary Values.

Made in the season's best styles; box plaits down front; collars and cuffs edged with colored linen; all splendidly tailored, and the colored trimming produces a very striking effect. All sizes.

Byck's Open Letter To the Public

Our dream of years is realized. Some seven years ago we set out in Louisville with a definite aim and purpose. We were small people then; but our policies and methods were large and broad and easily understood. We told the people then that we intended giving them the best leather in America, made into the finest fashioned shoes, at the lowest possible figure. We did not undertake impossibilities. We charged a legitimate profit. We gave value in abundance for every dollar received, and the people understood. We grew like the proverbial weed until, to-day, we tower head and shoulders above our competitors. We are easily the largest, the most comprehensive, the best equipped shoe house in the South. Our policies in the future will be the same as in the past—strong values and decent profits.

We have greatly added to and strengthened our lines of $3 shoes for men and women; so much so, in fact, that the stocks of these alone would fill the shelves of an average shoe store.

Bybroco and Josephine, the popular $3.50 favorites for men and women, respectively, are stronger than ever this season; not in point of quality, for that could not be; but in number of styles, shapes and leathers.

In the higher grades of Ladies' Hand-made Boots and evening slippers, we state emphatically that we carry the finest makes of the East at decidedly reasonable prices.

In Men's Bench-made Shoes we reach the high-water mark of quality in the Johnston & Murphy brand. This shoe is conceded to be the nearest thing to perfection in high-grade shoes for men.

Come in and visit our new store. You have every right to feel at home at Byck's. It is a shoe store for all the people; and we owe our success no less to you than to ourselves.

Ladies, the coming season will wear the mannish Directoire Boot.

Black Suede Boots will be especially popular. We are quoting these beautiful shoes at $3.50 and up.

This Is a Piano Every Member of the Family Would Enjoy.

Why?

Because one needs no music lessons to play it. Simply insert a roll of music and pump.

Each roll is marked so that a novice can secure just the desired effect, from soft to loud, and vice versa—fast or slow, just as each person would like it. Summed up in a very few words, the

Farrand-Cecilian

Is a Godsend to the Person Who Loves Music and Cannot Play.

Think of the many pleasant evenings you could spend at home with this wonderful instrument, where without it the evening would no doubt be devoid of music. Now if you love music, can you afford to be without it? We say no—a thousand times no.

We have sold them to hundreds of families and if you would come in and read some of the letters that the owners write us, telling the pleasure they derive from the Farrand-Cecilian, we know it would not be long before you would want one—why not come in and investigate the subject? We certainly would be glad to give you any information you desire; it does not matter whether you intend purchasing or not, come in and ask questions—that's what we are here for.

Now, why should you buy a Farrand-Cecilian in preference to any other?

Read the following reasons:

Music Roll Library.

By purchasing a Farrand-Cecilian you have access to a library of nearly 15,000 selections, most anything that you desire. Our library is the largest and most complete carried by any house in the country.

And our plan is such that you can enjoy this library free. Music will be any player. Be sure and ask us about it.

First—It contains the Metal Action Player Mechanism—an exclusive feature. The greatest improvement in Player mechanism that has ever been made; it does away with all troubles, insuring the owner that they can always play regardless of the weather conditions—other Player Pianos have Player actions made of wood, and wood expands and contracts, thereby causing leaks, and when a leak occurs you cannot secure the desired results, and results are what you want, and that is what you get when you buy a Farrand-Cecilian.

Terms.

If you do not care to pay cash for a Farrand-Cecilian, we can arrange terms to suit most anyone. If you have a piano, we will take that as part payment. Ask us to look at your piano and give you an estimate on what we will allow for it.

Second—It is the easiest pumping Player on the market—that is one reason why the children like to play it (this is the feature that should not be overlooked) as they can do so for hours without fatigue.

We could go on and on giving reasons, but space will not allow it, so if you are interested come in or write and we will send you a booklet which explains each and every feature contained in the Farrand-Cecilian.

Two-Year-Old Emperor Sits Upon China's Throne.

THE DOWAGER WHO MADE PU YI EMPEROR. THE PHOTOGRAPH WAS TAKEN BY A PALACE LADY.

By FRANK G. CARPENTER.

PEKIN, Aug. 20.—Under the shadow of the Pink Forbidden City, so near its yellow palaces that I can almost hear the almond-eyed nurses singing their lullabies, I write of little Pu Yi, the baby ruler of China. Of all the children on earth, he ranks first in importance. He has under him a country larger than Europe, and his subjects are one-fourth of mankind. They worship him as heaven's own son, and from now on the oldest and highest officials will remain on their knees in his presence. He is considered so holy that the house in which he was born has been given up by his parents, and according to custom it can be used only as a temple hereafter.

Little Pu Yi is thought too sacred for his own mother to have charge of him. He has been taken away from her, and given over to the care of the new Empress Dowager—that is, to the wife of Kwang Su, who died last November. His real mother cannot enter the palace except by permission, and the only way she can see her own baby is by calling upon the dowager and asking to have him brought into her presence. If the dowager consents, the eunuchs will carry the message to the imperial nurses and they will trot in Pu Yi.

Cried On His Accession.

I am told that his majesty cried much upon his accession. He was, though, 5 years old, as the Chinese reckon such things. He was only 2 years by our accounting, and, like most Manchurian children of that age, was still being nursed by his mother. When they tore him away he howled like a young saint, and the eunuchs and other palace officials were in despair. They published a notice asking for twenty-five Manchurian nurses. These were straightaway brought to the palace. They were examined as to their age, beauty and health by the Dowager, and as a result the Emperor's cries were soon drowned.

But let me tell you how little Pu Yi comes to be ruler of this great Chinese empire. I call him Pu Yi, although since his accession his name has been changed to the more dignified imperial title, Hsuan Tung. But Pu Yi is more babylike, and it brings us closer to the little one as he is. It is the name he received from his parents. It was his milk name given just a month after birth. Before that he was known as "the little one" and as "baby" or "darling." At the age of one month his head was shaved and he was known as Pu Yi. The hair has since grown, and it is now braided in four long plaits which stand out like tails on the different sides of his head.

How He Was Selected.

The Yi, or the last part of the name, is that which distinguishes him from the other children of the same generation of the imperial family. According to precedent and the unwritten law of the country, the Emperors run in one long, uninterrupted succession from father to son. If there are no sons the children of other princes are adopted to take their places, and this is the case with Pu Yi. Kwang Su had no children, so just before dying the great Empress Dowager sent out an edict that Pu Yi should be regarded as the adopted son of Kwang Su and heir to the throne. This was done, notwithstanding Prince Chun, little Pu Yi's father, who was the brother of the Emperor, Kwang Su, was still living, and that in any other country he would have been Kwang Su's successor. The baby Emperor is thus really the nephew of the last Emperor, but he is his son by adoption. Pu Yi is the great-grandson of the Emperor Tao Kwang, who ruled China from 1821 to 1850. His grandfather by adoption was Emperor Hsien Feng, who married the great Empress Dowager, giving his imperial actions, and according to the publications he acted as a young man rather than a baby. He was really carried into the throne room in the arms of his father, Prince Chun, who had already been made the imperial regent. I am told he cried when he came in, and that his father quieted him by promising to buy him a pony.

The officials were their gorgeous court dresses. The new empress dowager was on the throne, and, according to the Pekin Gazette, the baby emperor got down before her and made three kneelings and nine prostrations. The officials also knelt when they asked his majesty to accept the throne, and after a lot of other fussiness they placed him on "the jeweled seat with his face to the south." If the regular ceremonies were carried out as in the past, this little 2-year-old monarch then changed his clothes a half dozen times, and at the end put on sonorous garments as a sign of his great accession.

A golden bird with the proclamation in its mouth was let down by a string from the tower, and was caught as it fell by the proper officials below. They took out the paper and put it in a sedan chair, which was covered with yellow silk, and then started in a grand procession to lay it away in the imperial archives. There were soldiers to guard the procession, and men with whips went in advance to drive the common people out of the way. Incense was carried in front of the chair bearing the proclamation, and men with great umbrellas of imperial yellow followed behind. The officials who went with it were gorgeously dressed, and the whole was really imposing. The procession marched right down to the gate above which I was standing.

"All who have blood and breath cannot but mourn. We weep tears of blood and beat upon our hearts. How can we bear to express our feelings. Our late Emperor has ascended the dragon to be a guest on high, and we have received the commands of the Empress Dowager to enter upon the succession."

At the same time that the baby Emperor sent his first telegram to the United States, it was addressed to the President, and read: "Again the imperial family is unfortunate. Again we have met great calamity. The 23d day of the present moon our holy grandmother, the great Empress Dowager, was taken up by the fairies to the far-off land. Our late Emperor has ascended the dragon to be a guest on high, and we have received the commands of the Empress Dowager to enter upon the succession."

Change May Be Bad. A further feature of the case is that sometimes it might be bad for the patient to switch off from one line of treatment to another, without a conference between the two medical attendants. For example, suppose Dr. Smith has been treating a case of indigestion for a considerable time, and has, by careful experimentation and observation, eliminated all the customary measures of treatment as unsuited to the case. And suppose that just as he is about to try the thing needed, the patient suddenly becomes despondent and puts the case in the hands of Dr. Jones. Is it not apparent that Dr. Jones would have to go over all the ground previously covered by Smith? And is it not possible that the patient might lose enough ground during this repetition to render his condition hopeless?

Receiving an affirmative reply, he absolutely refused to touch the case without permission from the previous doctor. Persuasion and expostulation were alike unavailing, and the distressed patient were compelled to swallow their indignation and return to the first doctor before any other reputable physician could be gotten to take a hand in the case. Fortunately for them, the young doctor was reasonable, and readily consented to consult with an older man.

Much embarrassment and loss of time could be spared if people generally were a bit better posted on the ethics of the medical profession. While nothing is more absurd than the claim of certain magazine writers that medical

We have lamented to earth and heaven, and we stretch out our hands, wailing our inefficiency. We had hoped that her majesty would be vigorous and live to be 100 years old, that we might receive her instructions. But her toll, day and night, weakened her, and on the 21st day of the moon, when the late Emperor ascended the dragon to be a guest on high, her grief was so excessive that she suddenly came, and many have been issued which seem ridiculous as coming from the mouth of a two-year-old child. all beyond the seas. China has long been on terms of friendly intimacy with the United States, and your excellency, the President, on receiving this news, will surely mourn with us. I wish I could take you into the home of the little Pu Yi. From now on he will live in the palaces of the Pink Forbidden City in the most secluded part of Peking. To this city strangers are never admitted, except they be members of the foreign legations or ladies invited to visit the Empress. Such visits have been made only within the past few years, and it is a question whether any but the Ministers will be admitted in the future.

I have information, however, from confidential sources among the highest Chinese which enables me to give you one or two peeps at these royal quarters. The palaces are surrounded by a high, broad wall, and the gates to this wall, and officers in uniform stand just below. They keep out all but the servants of the palace and the highest of the Chinese officials, and the ordinary Chinaman has no idea of what goes on within. It is only by standing upon the wall of the Tartar City that a stranger can see anything, and then only the roofs. All he sees is a wilderness of high, broad buildings covered with bright yellow tiles, which glisten like gold under the sun. The buildings run up and down both sides of a lake, upon which are boats, and inside of which, on a little island, is the palace where the little Emperor lives. The Emperor is now a guest on high, and we have received the commands of the Empress Dowager to enter upon the succession."

Again we have met great calamity. The 23d day of the present moon our holy grandmother, the great Empress Dowager, was taken up by the fairies to the far-off land. Our late Emperor has ascended the dragon to be a guest on high, and we have received the commands of the Empress Dowager to enter upon the succession."

Change May Be Bad. A further feature of the case is that sometimes it might be bad for the patient to switch off from one line of treatment to another, without a conference between the two medical attendants. For example, suppose Dr. Smith has been treating a case of indigestion for a considerable time, and has, by careful experimentation and observation, eliminated all the customary measures of treatment as unsuited to the case. And suppose that just as he is about to try the thing needed, the patient suddenly becomes despondent and puts the case in the hands of Dr. Jones. Is it not apparent that Dr. Jones would have to go over all the ground previously covered by Smith? And is it not possible that the patient might lose enough ground during this repetition to render his condition hopeless?

Receiving an affirmative reply, he absolutely refused to touch the case without permission from the previous doctor. Persuasion and expostulation were alike unavailing, and the distressed patient were compelled to swallow their indignation and return to the first doctor before any other reputable physician could be gotten to take a hand in the case. Fortunately for them, the young doctor was reasonable, and readily consented to consult with an older man.

Much embarrassment and loss of time could be spared if people generally were a bit better posted on the ethics of the medical profession. While nothing is more absurd than the claim of certain magazine writers that medical others take care of the imperial silks, jewelry and all sorts of treasures, and some wait on the ladies in the employ of the Emperor. The Empress Dowager has her own force, and there are also lama, priests, who supply the spiritual wants of the household.

At the head of these eunuchs is a high rates of interest, and organized by ruled China through her. He has committed all sorts of extortions and has made a great fortune by squeezing the officials who surround him, not the ear of the old Empress Dowager. It is sure that he is now a man of enormous wealth. Indeed, he had so much money in the Chinese banks of Peking that he created a panic when the old Empress died by saying that he was going to withdraw a dozen banks failed on this account. This man's name is Li Lien Ying, or, as he is sometimes called, Pi-Tsiau-Li, or "Cobbler Li," because he is the son of a cobbler of Tung Li was taken into the palace as a boy, and grew up under the Empress Dowager. He was in charge of her toilet and personal wants, and later on became her business manager. He invested her money in pawnshops and in loans at interest. He was a very shrewd man, and according to the old Chinese custom, he was the head of her imperial household. I understand that he holds the same position to-day, and that the new Empress Dowager has made him the chief of the eunuchs.

There is one thing further let me tell you something about the new empress dowager, the woman whom Pu Yi from now on must regard as his mother, and to whom during his childhood he must be subservient. She is the late Empress of China, the wife of Kwang Su, who died last November. She was the first cousin of the late emperor, whom she married when she was only twenty years ago. Her father, Prince Chun, was a noble Manchurian, and her mother a Manchurian lady. I was in Peking at the time of her marriage, and saw the couple, containing the girls from whom she was chosen on their way to the palace, according to law. The Emperor's father can never marry now but full-blooded Manchurian. It is also provided that when he reaches marriageable age all the daughters of the Manchurian nobility between 12 and 15 are to go to the palace in order that they may be looked over by the empress dowager, and the best ones selected for the imperial consorts. This is what will occur fourteen years from now, when little Pu Yi is 16, and it is just what took place in 1888, when the empress dowager was picked out as the wife of Kwang Su. Of the crowd which then came there were only three who were kept, and the chief of these was Ye-ho-no-lah, who now rules the palace. The other two were his majesty's secondary wives, and were respectively 13 and 15 years of age.

Selecting a Consort. The selection was made by the empress dowager, and, as Ye-ho-no-lah was her niece, the choice probably went by favor rather than by beauty. This woman is now between 30 and 40 years of age. I am told she is short and lean and that her face shows considerable character. She has a yellow complexion, almond eyes, a large mouth and a long chin. Her nose is bigger than that of most Chinese ladies, and her teeth are decayed. She is said to be a woman of tact and good sense. She has not the force of the old empress dowager, and will probably allow herself to be ruled by the prince regent and the other high Chinese officials. She will, however, be supreme in the palace, and will have much to do with the education and training of his imperial nephew.

And this brings me to the question of Pu Yi's education. The officials are already discussing what it shall be, and the great question of them is what he shall be taught. They want him trained along modern lines. They propose to hire foreign governesses to teach him the modern languages, and the same persons to teach him the Chinese classics and to have a knowledge of our civilization. The school books now in use in the new Chinese schools are being examined, with a view to preparing some special ones for this little baby. He will be made to stand in his presence, and to commit the wisdom of Confucius and Mencius. When he reaches the right age he will have many teachers, and, according to the old Chinese custom, will remain on their knees while they instruct him. No ordinary man is supposed to stand in the presence of a monarch, and the reformers who China is now undertaking, this may be changed.

There is one thing sure, and that is they will never whip little Pu Yi. When Kwang Su was little he had his whipping boys, who studied with him and recited the same lessons as he. If his majesty did wrong the teacher was allowed to whip one of these boys, and this was supposed to answer the matter in hand and ordered a eunuch to punish Kwang Su. The same will probably be the rule as to Pu Yi.

The Emperor's Playthings. This imperial infant will have all sorts of toys. The Chinese are famous for making such things. They have animals of wood, iron, paper and cloth. They have mechanical toys and toys which teach certain things. The late emperor had many foreign toys and the imperial baby will first learn of the new civilization by playthings brought from abroad. He will have railroad trains, phonographs and electric cars, and he may perhaps have Teddy Bears and Billie Possums. He will have a large collection of all kinds of things, and there is already a large collection of such in the imperial palaces, and when the late emperor was a boy he amused himself by taking them to pieces and trying to put them together again. He did not always succeed, and the old empress dowager was in constant fear that Kwang Su would ruin the clocks she loved most.

As his baby majority grows older he should have all sorts of tutors, and it may be that he will be allowed to travel over the country and see the wonders of his empire as it really is. Such a thing has not been possible with the emperors of the past, but his infant majesty is no more secluded now. Then, the minkado was when he was a baby, and the present crown prince of Japan goes everywhere. China is so rapidly changing that he will be able to do the actual rule in his hands. If he lives, he will surely be the master of four hundred millions, and of what may then probably be the richest and greatest manufacturing nation on earth.

Tips On How to Deal With Your Doctor

Something of the Ethics of His Profession—Points the Public Often Overlooks.

By HANSELL CRENSHAW, M. D.

NOT long ago a young surgeon was called to set a broken arm. After diagnosing the fracture and reducing it, he applied a splint and left the home of the patient. Later the same day the parents of the patient became doubtful about the young surgeon's ability, and decided to consult an older doctor. Accordingly, they took the child to a prominent surgeon's office. Here they were obliged to wait several hours for their turn to see the busy man. At length, however, they were ushered into his private room, and they explained that the child had sustained a fracture, and they wanted the case examined and treated. The surgeon glanced at the neat bandaging on the child's arm, and asked if a physician had not already handled the case.

Receiving an affirmative reply, he absolutely refused to touch the case without permission from the previous doctor. Persuasion and expostulation were alike unavailing, and the distressed patient were compelled to swallow their indignation and return to the first doctor before any other reputable physician could be gotten to take a hand in the case. Fortunately for them, the young doctor was reasonable, and readily consented to consult with an older man.

Much embarrassment and loss of time could be spared if people generally were a bit better posted on the ethics of the medical profession. While nothing is more absurd than the claim of certain magazine writers that medical men have formed virtually a trust, still it is a fact that doctors are iron-clad in their rule to respect the rights of brother practitioners. (I am speaking only of first-class physicians.) And instead of becoming incensed at a physician for refusing to "butt in" on another physician's case without an understanding with the other doctor, we should esteem him all the more highly for such consideration.

Change May Be Bad. A further feature of the case is that sometimes it might be bad for the patient to switch off from one line of treatment to another, without a conference between the two medical attendants. For example, suppose Dr. Smith has been treating a case of indigestion for a considerable time, and has, by careful experimentation and observation, eliminated all the customary measures of treatment as unsuited to the case. And suppose that just as he is about to try the thing needed, the patient suddenly becomes despondent and puts the case in the hands of Dr. Jones. Is it not apparent that Dr. Jones would have to go over all the ground previously covered by Smith? And is it not possible that the patient might lose enough ground during this repetition to render his condition hopeless?

by other physicians without a thorough understanding all around. Do not gather from the foregoing that there is any objection, ethical or otherwise, to calling in a consulting physician if you feel the need of one. But there is a right way and a wrong way. The wrong way we have already illustrated. The right way is to tell your doctor that you want him to feel free to call for consultation if he wants it. Nine out of ten physicians will then ask you to suggest someone. But unless you have some very good reasons to make a selection, it would be more gracious—and more sensible—for you to ask the doctor to choose for himself.

sions may, in some measure at least, be due to a superfluity of physicians. Another thing to guard against, in calling in a consulting physician, is the mixing of schools. Don't call in a regular to consult with a homeopath, nor a homeopath to consult with an eclectic, nor an eclectic to consult with a regular, and so on. If you do the result is likely to be embarrassing. And, incidentally, don't ever call any doctor an "allopath." This misnomer was coined years ago by the homeopathic school to apply to the old-school physicians. It means a practitioner who produces by his medication disorders different from the disorder he is trying to correct. Naturally, then, no doctor likes to be called an "allopath."

It is never advisable to change during the handling of a case. A very much better plan would be to call another man in to consult with you, not to interfere with the management of the case. Then make your change after the case is through with.

First Prize Heading.

One Little Knight of Kentucky. Drawn by Herbert W. Ross, Pewee Valley, Ky, aged 14 years.

Dear Aunt Ruth—I have enjoyed reading your weekly chat and also the "Aloha" letters for a long while, and am greatly interested in the new club. But first I will introduce myself—my name is "Princess Winsome."

I cast my vote readily for the new name of "Aloha," as it is more desirable and means more than the former name.

As the subject of the club colors and club flower is under discussion, I suggest the rose for the flower, as it is the emblem of love, corresponding with "Aloha," which also means "love." As for the colors, don't you think, Auntie, as the daisy is the emblem of friendship, and is yellow and white, that the same colors would be appropriate?

Hoping the cousins agree with me in my suggestions and forgive me if I have taken too many liberties in my first letter. I am your new niece and cousin. PRINCESS WINSOME. Age 11 years.

Dear Aunt Ruth—I am much interested in the "Aloha Club" and hope it will be a success. I think the idea of having many of the plumes is delightful and hope many more will write under assumed names to keep getting more.

I have not got in any drawings or answered any puzzles for about a year and a half, but before that have had about ten or twelve drawings published, for which I now thank the editor very much. Esther Goetz, the first prize-winner in the last drawing contest, is a friend of mine at school, and I have an idea that she will recognize who I am. As I am fond of drawing, I think I shall try in the contest this week.

Hoping to be successful in the contest and to get acquainted with some of the cousins. I remain your niece, ALICE OF OLD VINCENNES. New Albany, Ind.

I hope to have some of your drawings, Alice. Send your real name to be enrolled with your nom de plume.

Dear Aunt Ruth: I am "de-lighted" to see my letter and story in print. I am not sure if I will tell you who I am. Beatrice Harrell, I think it fine for you to suggest having nom de plume. I have chosen "Lucy Kelly," as I wish Aunt Ruth would have her picture on the page. Well, with much love, I am your niece, LADY JANE.

P. S.—I think white and gold would be fine colors for the club.

Louisville, Ky.—Dear Aunt Ruth: Is there any room for another member in any of the clubs of the children's page? I have answered several puzzles, but have never received a prize. I have been taking the Courier-Journal ever since I can remember, and I think it is the best paper published. I like the change in our page so much, and in my opinion it keeps getting more interesting every Sunday.

Ivanhoe, you and Beatrice Harrell write interesting letters; in fact, I enjoy them all. I agree with Ivanhoe about the Aloha Club colors, and I think we ought to take a vote to settle the matter.

Aunt Ruth, I think your chats are delightful. You must be awfully busy with four clubs to attend to. I like the suggestion of the "Aloha Club" de plumes, and so I have chosen one.

I will describe myself. I am 4 feet 4½ inches tall, have light brown hair and blue eyes. If any of the cousins guess me I don't want them to tell.

I would love to become a member of the Humane Club, but do not know any animal stories to tell.

Well, I fear my letter is getting too long for the first time. To keep the cousins guessing I will sign myself NAPANE.

Write a letter for the Humane Club and you will be received. You need not send an animal story.

Hopkinsville, Ky.—Dear Club Friends—Here I come straight from the "Cuckoo's Nest," and here's hoping that all of us are getting to literary fame may be successful.

I am not yet acquainted with our friend, "The Little Colonel," and I would like very much to know her. Isn't it nice to have this club? I am sure it will be a success, but more of us must write. We need every one of the readers in this new club. Our dear "Aunt Ruth" was sweet and kind enough to let us have the club and we must thank her by doing our very best.

I think it would be very nice to have club colors, and I think a pale yellow and dark green with possibly the word "Aloha" on them in gilt would be real pretty. The letters this week were all very interesting, and we all owe the writers a vote of thanks.

Let's try to make our letters just as interesting as possible. Come now, everybody may have as many guests as she wants. Who is your loving friend BETTY?

Betty, this is a nice letter, but do not forget the rule in regard to writing on both sides of the paper.

THE CIRCUS.
(Comparison.)
Before
Trudging to the circus,
Through the hot sun,
Dusty, but happy,
I'm still on the run.
After
Lagging to schoolhouse,
Lesson forgot,
Scared of my teacher,
Tired, Great Scott!!
LUCY E. WILSON, Age 13.

Dear Aunt Ruth—The letters from the noms were all nice this week. Ivanhoe, I like your plan. I think a badge for the "Aloha Club" would be so nice, and I like the gold and white better than the blue and white. Little Colonel, you certainly ought to be thankful to have gotten such a popular name.

will find its way to Mr. Waste Basket. I will close, as this tiresome letter is already too long. To keep Ivanhoe and Quentin Durward guessing, I am, "THE LITTLE COLONEL."

Frankfort, Ky.—Dear Aunt Ruth: Here is a new member knocking at the door and begging admission into your bright and interesting little club. Am I welcome? I sincerely hope so, for I have peeped in so many times before, and I now wish to be considered within the circle. I cannot tell you how much I enjoy your bright, chatty letters, my dear cousins, whether in the soft summer days amid the bright flowers, or in the cold winter days, when I read them before the merry, crackling fire.

I believe I live in a much smaller city than do the generality of your girls, but I also believe that it cannot be surpassed in the loveliness of its scenery. It is surrounded by mossy green hills, through which flow the crystal waters of little streams and rivulets. It is situated on both sides of the Kentucky River, which are shaded by the majestic work of nature, the trees, which at night look like tall and mighty sentinels guarding the myriad bright stars reflected below.

I visit in Louisville frequently, and I wonder if Aunt Ruth or any of your girls have ever seen me. I have golden brown curly hair, large brown eyes and fair complexion.

And now, about our club, girls and boys. Isn't it delightful? And isn't Aunt Ruth just fine? I am sure that Jack, he was very smart. He would not let anyone hurt us. We had two cows; my grandfather had four. Jack knew our cows and would run the other cows away and let our cows eat. But one day he got sick and he grew worse and finally got so bad he could not get around and then papa had him killed. Well, as my letter is getting lengthy for the first time, I will close. Hoping to soon see my letter, I will close. I remain your loving niece, EDWARD S. GERING. Jeffersonville, Ky.

Dear Aunt Ruth: I have been reading about the Humane Club and think it is fine. I would like very much to become a member. I have signed the pledge, which I will inclose. I wish everyone would be kind to dumb animals. I have resolved the puzzle, but I would like to become a member of the other clubs, too. As this is my first letter, I hope it will escape the wastebasket. CATHERINE L. AKERS. St. Matthews, Ky.

Dear Aunt Ruth: I think our page is more and more interesting each week. This is the first time I have ever written to the children's page. I think the Humane Club is so nice, and I want to become a member as soon as I can. I will write you about a dog my uncle once owned; he was an awfully smart dog. He would drive the cows up to the barnyard every morning and night. And if you should call him and say "Howdy," he would stand on his hind feet and hand you his paw. Well, as my letter is getting lengthy, I will close. Hoping to see my letter in print, your loving niece, FLORA SHADY. 304 Shady street. Aged 13 years.

Dear Aunt Ruth: The page for the "Boys and Girls" I have noticed is improving wonderfully. As soon as we get the paper on Sunday I look at it the first thing I do. I think our Humane Club is one of the nicest clubs in Louisville. If you have a spare badge I would like very much to receive one. I have a French poodle named Beauty. She does many tricks. In my next letter I will send Beauty's picture and I am visiting my aunt in the country and am having a fine time. I will be home this week. How glad I was to see my story in the paper. I am sending in a drawing for the Aloha Club badge. I think the club colors are just fine. Beatrice Harrell, you write such interesting letters. I think it would be nice for the club colors to be changed. I will exchange with anybody that would like to. I like colored views. So many of the cousins have characters out of books for nom de plumes, so I have one, too. I am, "THE LITTLE DORRIT."

Louisville—Dear Aunt Ruth: Here comes a new member for the Aloha Club, and so did not get to vote. But I think Aloha the best name possible, and I am very anxious to join. About the club flower, I think that as Aloha is a Japanese word it would be nice to have our flower the yellow chrysanthemum. I have a flower and then, as someone suggested, have white and gold for our club colors. I think it would be a fine idea to elect a president for the Humane Club. Pocahontas and Ivanhoe, your letters were fine. Well, partly because I like the old fairy tales and partly because my best friend is in to stay away longer than I intended, I will sign myself your love niece, CINDERELLA.

Cinderella, No. 2, you will have to select another name, as your twin spoke first. Perhaps changing your name will cure the habit of staying away—a habit that the Aloha Club does not approve. The word "Aloha" is Hawaiian, not Japanese.

Dear Aunt Ruth—I have always been interested in the Children's Page, but have never taken courage enough to write before. I have just been content with reading the other cousins' letters, but now I feel so interested that I will try and write a short letter anyhow.

Are any of the cousins interested in the "Aloha Club"?

Dear Aunt Ruth: I am a little boy 11 years old. I go to St. Edward's church. I enjoy the Children's Page very much. I always read it over Sunday evening. I once had a big dog called Jack; he was very smart. He would not let anyone hurt us. We had two cows; my grandfather had four. Jack knew our cows and would run the other cows away and let our cows eat. But one day he got sick and he grew worse and finally got so bad he could not get around and then papa had him killed. Cinderella, No. 2, you will have to select another name, as your twin spoke first. Perhaps changing your name will cure the habit of staying away—a habit that the Aloha Club does not approve. The word "Aloha" is Hawaiian, not Japanese.

Dear Aunt Ruth—I thought I would answer one of your puzzles and see if I can't win one of the prizes: An Animal—Elephant. Something that People Crave—Money. A Girl's Name—Mildred. A Great Poet—Milton. A Boy's Name—Albert. Good Exercise—Running. A State—Oregon.

What Most Children Like—Rope. The initial letters spell Emma J. Marmor. I hope my letter will escape the wastebasket. As ever, your friend, ALMA THOMAS. Kosmosdale, Ky.

The answers you have given are correct with the exception of the poet's name, "Milton." Perhaps you did not mean to spell it as you did. There was no prize offered for this puzzle. The complete solution is as follows: An animal—Elephant. Something most people crave—Money. A girl's name—Mildred. A fruit—Apple. A city of Eurasia—Jerusalem. A great poet—Milton. A boy's name—Albert. Good exercise—Running. What man is—Mammal. A State—Oregon.

Contest Department.

LITERARY CLUB CONTEST.

Vacation is past! Some of you have been looking forward with pleasure to the reopening of school and some who have been jealously counting the flying weeks may be surprised to find that you, too, are glad to return to classes and playmates. Now you are telling each other of recent summer joys, and it would be hard to judge from your conversation which of you had the most and the finest fun.

Can you not tell the Children's Page about some of your good times? The prizes this week are offered for the best essays on "How I Spent My Vacation," or "Fun I Have Had This Summer." If you wish you may add a second title, such as: "A Picnic in the Country" or "A Visit to Virginia."

A first prize of $1 is offered for the best essay, and a second and a third prize of a book will be given for the next best essays.

Answers must not be sent later than next Thursday, and should be addressed to the Contest Department, Children's Page, Courier-Journal. The prize-winners will be announced two weeks later.

Answers must not be sent in the handwriting of parents or elders or written on typewriter.

Write on only one side of the paper and be sure to state your age.

music? If they are I have some short sketches of the composers' lives which I have written myself and will send them to you sometime soon. I would like to join the Literary Club, and am expecting to sometime soon. I think the Aloha Club is just splendid. I wonder who will guess my right name.

With success to the Aloha Club, I remain your affectionate niece, Irvington, Ky. OZMA OF OZ.

Do send the biographical sketches as soon as possible. I am sure that many of our members are interested in music and it will be inspiring to them to know something of the masters whose works they study. Sign your real name to the articles, and you will receive the Literary Club button.

Prize Winners.

Our artists had free range for the exercise of imagination in the Aloha Heading Contest, and they did not fail to avail themselves of it. The first-prize heading is used to-day, and those receiving second and third awards will follow in order. After that those given honorable mention will be used, so that in the long run all the best work received will appear.

The prizes were awarded as follows: First prize, $1, to Herbert W. Ross, Pewee Valley, Ky.

Second prize, a book, to Shirley Gill Pettus, 17 St. Charles Place.

Third prize, a book, to Viola Brill, 2914 West Kentucky street.

Honorable mention: Eliza O. Ehnman, Elsie Fay Johnson, Myrtle Coons, Mary T. Jenkins, Alice Thiesing.

NOTICE—Prize winners and those given honorable mention who live in Louisville and city children whose poems, essays, stories, drawings or Humane Club letters are published to-day will please call for prizes and club buttons at the Courier-Journal building, room 31, on next Tuesday afternoon, between 2 and 5 o'clock. Badges and prizes for children outside of the city are sent by mail.

Club colors and a flower. These are the questions of the hour. THE Aloha Club is in a flutter of interest about the selection of emblems. So many opinions have been expressed that you are now ready, I think, to settle the matter with a vote. You are, therefore, called upon to send in votes this week for club colors and a club flower. The opinions that you have already expressed in letters will not be counted as votes. Send a separate slip of paper with your letters or contest stories stating your choice of the flowers and colors under discussion and giving your true name and address. The result of the vote will be announced two weeks from to-day.

Herebefore I have not entered into the discussion of these questions, as I wished to leave you free to make your own selection. Before the vote is taken, however, I think it fair to offer a few suggestions on the subject in general.

Nearly all of you have expressed an opinion favorable to the white and gold suggested by Ivanhoe as suitable for a badge. These colors have the advantage of not belonging to any of our other clubs. I would advise you to bear this in mind in selecting colors, though there are other shades, as for instance purple and white, which also meet this requirement. White for purity and gold for sterling worth are good interpretations of the meaning of these colors. To me, however, they have another, more inspiring meaning. White and gold are the colors of sunlight, and children are the sunlight of the world.

Come to me, O ye children! And whisper in my ear What the birds and the winds are singing In your sunny atmosphere.

Ye open the eastern windows, Where thoughts are singing swallows And the brooks of morning run.

Ah, what would the world be to us If the children were no more; We should dread the desert behind us Worse than the dark before.

Such is the testimony of Longfellow. Swinburne, too, that great master of words, has written some of the sweetest and tenderest of his poems to children or about them. No one has expressed more touchingly the hunger of the grown-up heart for the love and joy that is scattered by you little people. Here are just a stanza selected from many: "God's love," EMMA J. MARMOR.

CHARLES GIBSON: There is no Aloha Club button. The badges are to be made of ribbon when colors have been selected. Why do you not take a nom de plume and join the fun?

JOSEPHINE POTTER: If you wish to be a member of the Humane Club write a letter for that department. When it appears you will receive a badge.

GRANDFATHER'S DARLING. Grandfather loved his little Dorothy very dearly. One day she climbed upon his knee and said: "Grandfather, do not teach me to read and write." And he taught her to write "God's love." One day they went out in the woods by the creek and sand. Grandfather was cooling his feet in the brook, when all of a sudden Dorothy exclaimed: "Oh, grandfather, look here!" and in the sand he could read "God's love."

I hope every little girl can write "God's love" as well as Dorothy could. EMMA J. MARMOR.

AUNT RUTH'S WEEKLY CHAT.

Hearing ere its clime be done, Knows not well the sweetest one, Heard of man benevolent sun, Hoped in heaven hereafter; So strong and long and light, Heard from morning's rosiest height, When the rays of all delight, Fill a child's clear laughter.

And again: Blest in death and life beyond man's guessing, Little children live and die possess, Still of grace that keeps them past expressing, Blest.

Hundreds of such verses or such statements in prose could be quoted from the great thinkers of the world. The great and wisest of men and women have almost always been the tenderest toward children. But after all, this question of what you, children mean to us grown people is more interesting to us than to you. I am only reminding you of it to explain my meaning when I say that the white rays of noon and the slanting yellow beams of afternoon seem just the fitting colors to represent you, who are the light of the old world's eyes.

In regard to the club flower, the rose, the pansy, the daisy and the chrysanthemum have been suggested. The daisy and chrysanthemum have been chosen for their colors of white and yellow, the pansy for thoughts, and the rose for love. But in the sense of kindness and good-will—the love of humanity. It does not mean romance and love in the old world, but in the sense of kindness and good-will—the love of humanity. It does not mean romance and love in the old world, but in the sense of kindness and good-will—the love of humanity. It does not mean romance and love in the old world, but in the sense of kindness and good-will—the love of humanity.

The rose, which we all love for its beauty and fragrance, is considered, as several of you have said, the emblem of love. But it belongs in this poetic sense rather to the romantic love of the chrysanthemum. If necessary, the love of maturity—than to the love of childhood. The rose belongs to summer, and the chrysanthemum to autumn. To my mind, is too heavy and sophisticated for childhood. The same might be said of the chrysanthemum.

Another idea that seems to be associated with these two flowers is that of aristocracy. The daisy, the pansy, the daisy and the chrysanthemum have been chosen for their colors of white and yellow, the pansy for thoughts, and the rose for love. But in the sense of kindness and good-will—the love of humanity. It does not mean romance and love in the old world, but in the sense of kindness and good-will—the love of humanity. It does not mean romance and love in the old world, but in the sense of kindness and good-will—the love of humanity.

Can you think of a flower that is simple and plentiful and natural? That is the flower, I should say, that would fit you best. And if it should have the colors of the white and yellow sunlight that would be pleasant, too.

We are getting well enough acquainted to begin to think about electing officers. Keep this in mind as you read the Aloha letters and choose the one you like best. It would be wise to vote on those names that seem most popular, as we shall have many officers of the club, and a decision promptly. A president, vice president, secretary and treasurer are not needed to elect one. The duties of the secretary and treasurer will not be very heavy at present, but later on we may have work for them. All the officers will be expected to look after the welfare of the club and to help sustain interest in it.

PEARY MAY LOSE
ANOTHER RACERoosevelt Struck a Rock Entering Battle Harbor.Scheduled To Reach North Sydney, September 25.Story Comes From Captain of Fishing Steamer.Talked With Explorer About North Pole Trip.The Old Story Concerning
Dr. Cook Repeated.

CREW IS WELL, BUT THIN.

St. Johns, N. F., Sept. 11.—According to Capt. Nielsen, of the fishing steamer Taff, which arrived here to-night from Battle Harbor, Labrador, Commander Peary's steamer Roosevelt was badly damaged by ice in the north, and may not get to North Sydney before September 25. The Roosevelt struck a rock while entering Battle Harbor, and was fast for six hours, but was not seriously damaged by this accident.

Struck Rock Entering Harbor.

The Taff left Battle Harbor early yesterday morning with a cargo of fish for wholesale merchants in this city. She was in port last Wednesday when the Roosevelt arrived from Indian Harbor. The Roosevelt put in to take on a supply of coal and also to give Commander Peary an opportunity to send details of his far northern trip to the United States by way of the wireless station at that port. Capt. Nielsen says that when entering Battle Harbor the Roosevelt encountered a fishing schooner at anchor in the channel, and that in attempting to feel her way by the steamer struck a rock and was held fast for six hours until the rising tide enabled Capt. Bartlett to back off. The steamer was not badly damaged by her contact with the ledge.

Offered Assistance.

While the Roosevelt was stranded, Capt. Nielsen went aboard to offer his assistance and was thanked by Commander Peary and Capt. Bartlett, who decided that they would be able to work the steamer free at high water. Capt. Nielsen says that Commander Peary and Capt. Bartlett showed him over the ship and told him that the pole had been reached. When Capt. Nielsen asked Peary if he was certain he had found the pole, the Commander declared: "Oh, I got there; you may rest assured of that."

Concerning Cook's Claim.

When the commander of the Taff asked Peary what he thought of Dr. Cook's claim, Peary replied that Cook's Eskimos had assured him that Cook scarcely went out of sight of land. Capt. Nielsen says that Peary appeared to be thoroughly convinced of his own success, and Nielsen declared to-night that he fully believed Peary's report.

Roosevelt Badly Battered.

Nielsen further said that the Roosevelt was badly battered and that she showed the bruises made by jagged pieces of ice. He said that the steamer was dropping from her seams when she reached Battle Harbor and that Peary engaged twenty men there to assist the crew in giving the ship a complete overhauling, cleaning and painting. He also said that when he reached Battle Harbor yesterday, he found the intention of Peary and Bartlett to run the Roosevelt to Assiza Harbor, where she would remain for ten or twelve days so that the men would not be hampered in their work by stormy weather. Capt. Nielsen said the expedition expected to reach Sydney about September 25.

Crew Well, But Look Thin.

The crew of the Roosevelt are all well, but look thin and tired and according to Capt. Nielsen, the most worn-looking member of the expedition is Commander Peary himself. Nielsen was informed that the Peary party underwent severe hardships in their night and day marches during the final stages of the dash to the pole. The expedition encountered blizzards, and according to Capt. Nielsen, was obliged to kill dogs for food.

400 Miles On Sledges.

The party journeyed over 400 miles on sledges over fair ice conditions, although at one time Peary and several of his men had a narrow escape from being carried away by a break-up of an ice floe. The Roosevelt was moored in latitude 82.20 during the winter.

Rigging Presents Curious Sight.

Capt. Nielsen said that the rigging of the Roosevelt presented a curious sight. About forty masts or heads of masts of reinforced wood were suspended to the deck. On the deck are twelve dogs, the last of nearly 200 taken poleward. Above the deckhouse are lanterns containing foxes and other animals which Commander Peary is taking to the United States. In the hold of the vessel is a large supply of skins and furs, a number of Eskimo skeletons and boxes of strange animals.

When the ship reached Battle Harbor her bunkers held only five tons of coal. At that place she took on board sixty tons to carry her to Sydney.

PUBLIC, DECLARES COMMANDER PEARY

Battle Harbor, Labrador, Via Marconi Wireless, Cape Ray, N. F., Sept. 11.—(Special.)—The Roosevelt will remain here three or four days coaling and overhauling ship. I expect to arrive at Sydney about September 25.
Do not trouble about Cook's story and attempt to explain discrepancies in his statements. The affair will settle itself. He was not at the pole on April 21, 1908, or at any other time. He has simply handed the public a gold brick.
These statements are made advisedly, and I have full proof of them. When he makes a full statement of his journey, over his signature, to some geographical society or other reputable body, if that statement contains the claim that he has reached the pole, I shall be in a position to furnish material that may prove distinctly interesting reading for the public.

COMPARATIVE STORIES OF CONDITIONS
EXISTING AT POLE BY PEARY AND COOK

(Copyright by New York Times.)

(By Robert E. Peary.)

In twelve hours we made forty miles. There was no sign of a lead in the march.

I had now made my five marches, and was in time for a hasty noon observation through a temporary break in the clouds, which indicated our position at 89.57. I quote an entry from my journal some hours later:

"The pole at last. The prize of three centuries, my dream and goal for twenty years, mine at last; I cannot bring myself to realize it. 'It all seems so simple and commonplace. As Bartlett said when turning back, when speaking of his being in these exclusive regions which no mortal has ever penetrated before:'

"It is just like every day."

Of course I had my sensations that made sleep impossible for hours, despite my utter fatigue—the sensations of a lifetime, but I had no room for them here.

The first thirty hours at the pole were spent in taking observations, in going some ten miles beyond our camp and some eight miles to the right of it; in taking photographs, planting my flags, depositing my records, studying the horizon with my telescope for possible land, and searching for a practicable place to make a landing.

Ten hours after our arrival the clouds cleared before a light breeze from our left, and from that time until our departure in the afternoon of April 7 the weather was cloudless and flawless. The maximum temperature during the thirty hours was 38 below, and the minimum 12.

We had reached the goal, but the return was still before us. It was essential that we reach the land before the next spring tide, and we must strain every nerve to do so.

Nothing Seen of Dr. Cook.

Nothing was seen at the pole of Dr. Cook's reported presence there, and Cook's story of his discovery of the pole is not believed there.

Enthusiasm Over Success.

Commander Peary and the members of his expedition are enthusiastic over their success. They say, however, that they are not sorry to come south again. Commander Peary says that the only satisfactory way of accomplishing polar work is by aid of Eskimos and dogs. Several puppies are also aboard the Roosevelt, which also brought some Arctic harness and ropes. An attempt was made to bring five musk oxen and a walrus back alive, but the animals were so ugly that they had to be killed.

MRS. COOK TALKS
SHORTLY TO POINT.

Believes In Her Husband and Refuses To Mix Up In Controversy.
Time To Shut Up.

New York, Sept. 11.—Mrs. Frederick A. Cook, who still persists in her refusal to be interviewed directly or to make any signed statement for publication on her husband's report that he reached the North Pole ahead of Commander Peary, consented to-night through a friend, whose name is withheld, to account for her silence.

"I believe in my husband," she said, "and there the matter ends for me. I do not belong in this controversy, and I have feared that if I talked at all, no matter how guardedly, I should be dragged into it willy-nilly. Then there would be denials and counter-denials, and I should never get clear. For this reason, I have said, and shall say, nothing whatever beyond the bare affirmation that I believe in my husband."

Mrs. Cook's reticence, which her husband's critics have endeavored to construe as distrust, finds foundation in the more and more acrimonious tone taken by the partisans in the Cook-Peary dispute. Beginning with those personally acquainted with the rival explorers, or scientifically acquainted with the subject, the cross-fire of denial, insinuation and finally flat accusation of fraud, has attracted fresh recruits to both camps, who take up the matter as bitterly as if the quarrel were their own making.

In short, the personal equation has for the moment overshadowed the ultimate anxiety as to the facts.

Capt. B. S. Osborn, secretary of the Arctic Club, of which Dr. Cook is a member, and one of the most positive of the critics, gave an interview to-night on the dispatches from Commander Peary published in to-day's newspapers. "Gold bricks," he found a particularly offensive epithet.

Time To Shut Up.

"Peary had better shut up," exclaimed the captain, banging the table with his fist. "Peary has damned himself by his own words. You ought to see the letters I am getting from

On April 21 the first corrected altitude of the sun gave 89 degrees 53 minutes 40 seconds. The pole, therefore, was in sight. We advanced the fourteen seconds, made supplementary observations and prepared to stay long enough to permit a double round of observations. Blukishook and Asweela were told that we had reached the "Nanik Nali," and they sought to celebrate by an advance of savage joys.

At last we had pierced the local center and the flag had been raised to the coveted breezes of the North Pole.

The day was April 21, 1908. The sun indicated local noon, but time was a negative problem, for here all meridians meet. With a stop it was possible to go from one part of the globe to the opposite side. From the hour of midnight to that of midday the latitude was 90, the temperature 38 and the barometer 29.83.

North, East and West had vanished. It was South every direction, but the compass pointing to the magnetic pole was as useful as ever. Though overjoyed with the success of the conquest, our spirits began to descend on the following day after all the observations had been taken with a careful study of the local conditions, a sense of intense loneliness came with the further scrutiny of the horizon.

What a cheerless spot to have aroused the ambition of man for so many ages. An endless field of purple snows. No life. No land. No spot to relieve the monotony of frost.

We were the only pulsating creatures in a dead world of ice.

We turned our backs to the pole on April 23 and began the long return march. Continuing on a continued eastern drift, the course was forced farther west. With fair weather, good ice and the inspiration of the home run long distances were at first quickly covered. Below the eighty-seventh parallel the character of the land began to change, and it became evident that the season was advancing rapidly.

Judges, Mayors and business men have no faith in the man, though I am willing to concede he may have reached the pole.

Capt. Osborn made it clear, that he was speaking as a private individual, not secretary of the Arctic Club.

Dr. O. Stebbins, chairman of the executive committee of the Arctic Club, said to-night that he and his associates were still without direct word from Dr. Cook. Not hearing from him in reply their cable they had gone ahead, he said, and set Tuesday, September 21, as the date on which the club will tender him a public banquet of honor at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Twelve hundred invited guests have been set as the capacity limit for the chartered steamer, which will go down the bay to meet Dr. Cook aboard the Oscar II, which sailed with him as a passenger to-day from Christian-sand, Norway.

Dr. Stebbins was with Dr. Cook in the luckless Miranda expedition in 1894.

PEARY WILL REACH
SYDNEY SEPTEMBER 15.

Wires He Has 100 Walrus Skins On Board the Roosevelt For His Friends.

New York, Sept. 11.—The following cable was received to-day at the Peary Arctic Club in Brooklyn: "Battle Harbor (via Cape Ray), September 9.—H. L. Bridgman, Brooklyn, N. Y.:

"Roosevelt will remain here three or four days coaling. Expect to reach Sydney about the 15th. Have 100 walrus skins on board for the club. Your letters per whaler and the Jennie received. You are the logical candidate for the Pole Commission."

Mr. Bridgman is now at Sydney with Mrs. Peary waiting to meet Commander Peary. The significance of the last sentence is not known at the Peary Arctic Club.

Mr. Bridgman is no war Sydney with no power to require a full report. This probably will be made by Peary to the Peary Arctic Club, which financed the expedition.

As Dr. Cook has no official connection with the Government the question of Associated Press sends TUG TO PEARY.

Will Take About Two Days To Make the Trip.

Sydney, N. S., Sept. 11.—The tug Douglas Thomas, under charter of the Associated Press, left here last night with a party of writers on board for Battle Harbor, Labrador, where Commander Peary is now at anchor on board the Roosevelt. It will take about two days to make the trip.

The Peary reception committee here has about completed its work and nothing remains but the arrival of the Roosevelt. The demonstration then will be the biggest of its kind ever witnessed.

ARBITRATION BOARD.

Coast and Geodetic Survey Offers Its Offices.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Again to-day the officials of the Coast and Geodetic Survey indicated their willingness to arbitrate the dispute that has arisen from the claims of Peary and Cook. Up to the present time, however, there has been no official request for such action.

Commander Peary, while commissioning the steamer, is not with the Coast and Geodetic Survey, is not required to submit a report to that bureau. He undoubtedly will submit the results of the soundings and observa-

Fall Clothes.

Of course you are interested just now in Fall Clothes. So are we. And we want to interest you in the PARTICULAR clothes which we have to sell, notably the Hart, Schaffner & Marx and Our Elbee Clothes

The new models this fall are exceptionally striking; they're something good for every man in town; a color that will suit; a pattern that will please; a weave that looks and feels just right to you; and a variety in shape, in models, in finish of the cuffs, in the hang of the trousers that will meet the taste of every man.

And they're here for you, ready to wear. We illustrate young men's styles particularly because we've made such a special feature of them in these clothes, that we want all the young fellows to note the fact. At the same time we take care of the older men equally as well.

The all-wool quality pays all of you; the young fellows often have to economize; buying these clothes is the way to do it. The perfect tailoring pays; it preserves and keeps shapely the correct style which you so much admire. The fashionable style pays; it's worth money to any man to look well dressed as he goes about business; especially young men who need in business, often, all the help they can get.

See some of the smart new grays; the bright, snappy plaids, and the stunning blues. They're plain, or in countless patterns and textures; blue serges, blues with self-stripes; with a pattern woven in; there's no telling you the variety; come and see for yourself.

Suits $18 to $35; Overcoats $15 to $40; Raincoats $15 to $35. English Gabardines and light-weight Mackintoshes, $15 to $35.

IN FALL FURNISHINGS we are ready with such things as Manhattan shirts, "E. & W." and Arrow Brand Collars, Holeproof hosiery and everything else in high-grade haberdashery.

IN HATS we are ready with Stetson's Special $5 goods; all the Stetson $4 goods; Levy's Special $3 hats; and the full complement of BOYS' and CHILDREN'S novelties.

IN THE SHOE DEPARTMENT we are ready with fall and winter goods in FRENCH, SHRINER & URNER shoes for men; ROSIS shoes for women; the "Ironclad" goods for boys and girls and full lines of other goods; including HOSIERY for women and girls.

FOR THE BOYS we are ready with everything that a boy has to wear; including ELBEE clothes, just as well made and of as high character as the same goods for men. GIRLS' COATS are also shown in this department, and the fall line is ready.

SOLDIERS COULDN'T TELL WHO FIRED FIRST

JUDGE POLSGROVE DISMISSES
JOE NICKLES.

WAS CHARGED WITH KILLING
SERGEANT TATE.

SEVERAL WITNESSES HEARD.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 11.—(Special.)—After hearing all the witnesses that could be obtained in the County Court this morning, Judge Polsgrove dismissed Joe Nickles, charged with killing Sgt. Tate last Saturday night. Two soldiers, who were in the room at the time, said they could not tell which one fired the first shot, and the bartender swore that Tate backed Nickles up against the wall and threatened to kill him before Nickles fired. It was also shown that Tate had chased Nickles the night before across the street with brass knuckles. This practically winds up the Crow riot of Saturday night, as it is not likely now that the grand jury will indict anyone unless some new testimony comes out.

The first witness put on the stand was Bert E. Britton, of Somerset. He said he was sitting with a soldier named Dunn on a beer cart just outside the side door to Hower's saloon when he heard Nickles and a soldier named Hinder talking as if they were mad, and he got up to go inside to keep things quiet if he could; that when he got inside the door he saw Tate step in between the two men as they were talking, and there is no direct testimony that he fired the first shot at Tate. All the others who were concerned in the shooting are free, and I will not hold this boy on the kind of testimony that has been produced. He is dismissed.

The testimony shows that two people were killed and two wounded in this shooting, and yet there is no proof that the defendant Nickles shot any of them except Tate, and there is no direct testimony that he fired the first shot at Tate. All the others who were concerned in the shooting are free, and I will not hold this boy on the kind of testimony that has been produced. He is dismissed.

Dunn, the soldier who was sitting with Britton when the fight began, said he saw the two men (Tate and Nickles) firing at each other, but did not know which one fired the first shot.

Elmer Hales, another soldier from Somerset, said he was in the room when the shooting began, but could not tell which one fired the first shot.

Will Kinkadee swore that he saw Tate with a pistol in his hand, advancing toward Nickles, and that Nickles backed up against the wall to get away; that Nickles did not fire till he believed Tate was about to shoot him.

All three of the soldiers testified that they saw no one from the outside of Hower's saloon fire any shots into the building at any time after the first shooting.

"BLACK MAMMY"
DIES AT AGE OF 109.

Caroline Thompson, of Christian County, Was Probably Oldest Woman In Kentucky.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Sept. 11.—(Special.)—Caroline Thompson, of Hubbard, probably the oldest woman in Kentucky, died to-day at her home on Durrett avenue in this city. She was 109 years of age, according to records in the families of citizens who owned her as a slave. She was born in Virginia and was brought to this county by John Meader, a pioneer. She was the last of a family of twenty-five children. Up to a week ago her health was remarkably good. She was a typical Southern mammy, and had many devoted white friends in the city.

MRS. COHEN NOW
SEARCHING IN CHICAGO.

Arrives From Louisville In Quest of Her Husband Jacob.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Mrs. Julia Cohen arrived in this city to-day from Louisville on a search for Jacob Cohen, to whom she was married in August, 1908. Mrs. Cohen has sworn out a warrant for the arrest of her husband, declaring that he abandoned her after obtaining from her the savings of a lifetime.

Berlin, Sept. 11.—Orville Wright made two successful flights in his new, ad-hoc parade ground this afternoon. In the first he was aloft alone for forty-two minutes and executed a series of intricate maneuvers. A strong breeze was blowing, and the aeroplane pitched and tossed among the air currents.

His second flight was with a passenger, Capt. Von Kehler, and was of short duration.

THE FALL SUITS, OVERCOATS AND EXTRA TROUSERS

The most select weaves and colorings from both foreign and domestic woolen mills. A. B. Kirschbaum & Co., of New York and Philadelphia, the best makers of clothes, working to comply with our precise requirements, produced these high-class garments. Our long experience and close study of men's wishes and needs are valuable factors, contributing to the good of our lines. Where careful finish and high-grade tailoring could be made MORE careful and HIGHER-GRADE, we made the extra efforts so that OUR LINES might be

FATAL FATE

Taken From Freight Train by John Neal.

WAS FORMERLY WELL-KNOWN GUARD AT REFORMATORY.

HAD SUFFERED LONG FROM ILL HEALTH.

ROAD BONDS CASE OPINION.

John Neal, who for more than twelve years was a guard at the Indiana Reformatory and the old Indiana State Prison South at Jeffersonville, died at the Indianapolis City Hospital on Friday morning from injuries sustained by falling from a fast freight train at Michigan street and the Bell railway on Thursday night. Neal left Jeffersonville on Thursday afternoon some time, but the exact hour or by what line is not known. When last seen in Jeffersonville he had a good gold watch, but when found there was no money or valuables on the injured man. Some of his Jeffersonville friends claimed that the guard Neal was a victim of foul play.

It is not known what he would be doing on a freight train, as he was a man of retirement and it was not necessary for him to adopt that method of travel, although he was financially embarrassed. He had condition, physically and mentally, from Bright's disease, but his friends said that he did not want to leave his home in Jeffersonville. He was a member of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, and was a member of the Indiana Reformatory.

Neal had been in failing health for a long time and last May took his vacation at the Indiana Reformatory. He was in the home of his son, who is in a prosperous condition, at Clay City, Clay county, Ind.

He returned in a few days and reported for duty, but was told as gently as possible that his place had been filled. He remained in Jeffersonville for a few days, but he went back to Clay City and then to Indianapolis. Just before he returned to Jeffersonville, he had been to see Gov. Thomas R. Marshall and Dr. Harry C. Sharp, who had told him that he would be given a job by the following Monday, which turned out to be true. After Mr. Neal became generally known, he was told that he should have his old place back, saying Mr. Whitaker had laid him off because he was not a native of Jeffersonville, but he was told he could not be employed.

Again he went back to Clay City, and a week or ten days ago returned to Jeffersonville. He was in a much worse condition physically and mentally than when he was in Indianapolis. He was in a state of mind that he was a victim of foul play. He was in a state of mind that he was a victim of foul play. He was in a state of mind that he was a victim of foul play.

On his last visit to Jeffersonville Neal claimed his home was in Clay City, which is in Owen county, but not far from Clay City. He said he was going to open a club in Clay City, and he could make $100 per day. When he was found unconscious Friday morning at an early hour, he was identified by some letters that had been addressed to him at Clay City. No attempt has yet been made by anyone to communicate with any person of the West quarter at H. Maden, who was formerly mail clerk at the Indiana Reformatory, heard of the death and was a witness at the funeral.

Neal came to Jeffersonville as a guard under A. H. Teri, and had a good record there many months until he met Mrs. Mary L. Colvin, who was a widow, and they were married November 9, 1898. The marriage was an unhappy one and on application of the wife a divorce was granted on February 25, 1899. Mrs. Neal soon married again. Neal was a companionable man, a good dresser and regarded as one of the best guards at the reformatory. He was married once before meeting Mrs. Colvin, and for a time to daughter, Judge Shea, who was in Jeffersonville, but went East on account of her health and died there.

Judge Shea on Road Bonds.

One of the longest written opinions ever given in the Clark Circuit Court was filed yesterday in the office of Curtis W. Ballard, Circuit Clerk, at Jeffersonville. The opinion was written by Judge Shea, who was designated by Judge Harry C. Montgomery to act as a special judge in a suit involving the issue of $22,000 in bonds to be paid by the state of Indiana to the state of Kentucky. The opinion was written in the office of Judge Shea, who was designated by Judge Harry C. Montgomery to act as a special judge in a suit involving the issue of $22,000 in bonds to be paid by the state of Indiana to the state of Kentucky.

The opinion handed down yesterday by Judge Shea contains more than fifty paragraphs, some of them lengthy ones, the whole case being some 100 pages in all. NEW CLUB

Organized by Business Men of New Albany.

BARBER COMPANY GETS ANOTHER CONTRACT.

NO FREE ROAD IN GEORGETOWN SEEMS PROBABLE.

ELECTION OFFICERS TO WAIT.

The Straw's Mill and Gun Club has been organized, and will be incorporated in New Albany and at Indianapolis to take over the historic old mill site on the bank of Silver Creek, known as Straw's mill, which has been a fishing resort for people of the three Falls cities for half a century. It is proposed to make it one of the finest amusement places in Indiana. There will be a large building, a swimming pool, and other amusements. Besides the mill property, which was owned by the Straw family, the new club will include the land in the vicinity of the mill, which has been purchased in all about twenty-four acres. The men behind the scheme have ample capital. Walter E. Emory, president of the new club, is a resident of New Albany. He is a member of the Indiana Reformatory. He is a member of the Indiana Reformatory. He is a member of the Indiana Reformatory.

It is likely that the headquarters will be located in the Dushoff block with a day or two, and a vigorous campaign carried on after the primary, which is to be held September 24, between the hours of 1 and 8 p. m. Dr. John F. Meyer has been elected treasurer of the committee and Harry Breen, secretary. Yesterday evening M. C. Clark, a well-known business man, announced for Councilman-at-large, and Maj. Leonidas Stout announced that he would make the race for Councilman from the Third ward. Maj. Stout is 52 years of age. He is a member of the Indiana Reformatory. He is a member of the Indiana Reformatory. He is a member of the Indiana Reformatory.

Old Indian Successors. Lewis Engleman, aged 96 years, supposed to be the oldest resident of Floyd county, died at 8 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Susan Engleman, in Georgetown, nine miles northwest of New Albany, of the infirmities attending old age. His death had been expected for several weeks, although suffering from no disease, and he was stricken with blindness a few days ago, which was supposed to be the beginning of the end.

Mr. Engleman was a pioneer of Floyd county, living in Georgetown township over three-quarters of a century. For the last ten years he has been unable to leave the house. Four daughters and one son survive: Mrs. Kate Roby, of Laconia, Ind.; Mrs. Carrie Case and Mrs. Anne Avinger, of Nebraska; Mrs. Jane Teaford, Iowa, and William Engleman, of Georgetown. He has several grandsons and several great-grandchildren. He was a member of the Christian church nearly all his life and was greatly respected by all who knew him. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

No Money For Election Officers. The County Council of Floyd county, sitting at New Albany, refused to make an appropriation for the purpose of paying the expenses of the election officers at the recent election to determine whether the county should be wet or dry under the Harty act. The council voted yesterday to pay the expenses of the election officers out of the county treasury. The council voted yesterday to pay the expenses of the election officers out of the county treasury.

Wants His Property Back. In the Floyd Circuit Court at New Albany yesterday Julius Kempf filed suit against the New Albany city and county to recover his property. He claimed that he had been wrongfully deprived of his property by the city and county. He claimed that he had been wrongfully deprived of his property by the city and county.

Pleasant Birthday Anniversary. Mrs. Martha E. McBride, whose ancestors have lived in Clark county, near the banks of Silver Creek, for over 100 years, celebrated the seventy-fifth anniversary of her birth at the old home, near the banks of Silver Creek, for over 100 years, celebrated the seventy-fifth anniversary of her birth at the old home.

Painter Falls Forty Feet. Clarence Moss, 1411 Chartres street, New Albany, while engaged in painting a smokestack at the plant of the Kahman Company, near the banks of Silver Creek, fell forty feet from the top of the stack, a distance of forty feet. He was killed instantly. He was killed instantly.

Items of Interest From New Albany. Miss Abbie Smith, 224 West Market street, has gone to Chicago to remain a week. Miss Elsie Dorn has returned from Huntington, Ind., where she spent the summer. Mrs. Estelle Brinkley, East Elm street, has gone to Detroit to visit her niece. Mrs. Virginia Lott, Vincennes street, has returned from a pleasant visit to her sister, where she attended the county fair.

Barber Company Gets More Contracts. At a meeting of the New Albany Board of Public Works yesterday the Barber Asphalt Company was instructed to make repairs to the carriage way on Spring street, Culbertson avenue and West street at the Indiana Reformatory. The work will be done by the Barber Asphalt Company. The work will be done by the Barber Asphalt Company.

No Free Road in Georgetown. The Board of County Commissioners of Floyd county, sitting at New Albany, during the past week refused to order work on the proposed free gravel road from Edinburgville, in Floyd county, to the Indiana Reformatory. The board refused to order work on the proposed free gravel road from Edinburgville, in Floyd county, to the Indiana Reformatory.

Municipal Politics Warming Up. The municipal election in New Albany promises to be the most interesting one held in that city for many years. George Strick, chairman of the Republican City Committee, said yesterday that he had not yet decided whether he would call his committee together. Mr. Strick, who is a resident of New Albany, is a member of the Indiana Reformatory. He is a member of the Indiana Reformatory.

FOUNDERS OF CHRISTIAN CHURCH, ITS EARLY SEAT OF LEARNING AND COMING CENTENNIAL

A. CAMPBELL. THOMAS CAMPBELL.

(Correspondence of the Courier-Journal.) Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 11.—On October 11, 50,000 delegates, representing 1,500,000 communicants of that branch of Christianity known as the Disciples of Christ, will assemble in Pittsburgh to celebrate the centennial of the birth of Alexander Campbell, which is the foundation upon which his son, Alexander Campbell, reared the superstructure of their church.

Profound in conception and forceful in execution, this document was the most powerful protest of the nineteenth century against creedal domination in religious affairs.

Near Mecca of Founders. It is peculiarly appropriate that this celebration should be held in Pittsburgh. Just forty miles away, in the beautiful Allegheny valley, the village in which these men lived and wrought, and from which their influence radiated, is now a city of 100,000 people.

Bitter Controversies Arise. The tendency of today toward religious tolerance makes it impossible to appreciate the bitterness which characterized denominational differences during the early part of the last century. The men who were the founders of the Disciples of Christ were not men of peace. They were men of war.

Sketch of Thomas Campbell. An Irishman by birth, a descendant of the Campbells of Argyle and pious Huguenots by descent, Thomas Campbell was born in 1763 in the village of Glasgow, Scotland. He was a man of great energy and a man of great faith.

Joined By His Son. In 1809 he was joined by his son, Alexander Campbell, also a graduate of Glasgow University, who accepted the pastorate of the Presbyterian church in Washington, Pa. Deeply impressed with the conviction that the true office of religion was to unite men in a common cause, he was a man of great energy and a man of great faith.

Causes Division of Baptists. In this move he was joined by his son, Alexander Campbell, also a graduate of Glasgow University, who accepted the pastorate of the Presbyterian church in Washington, Pa. Deeply impressed with the conviction that the true office of religion was to unite men in a common cause, he was a man of great energy and a man of great faith.

Establishes Seat of Learning. In 1826 he published in the Millennial Harbinger the plan of an institution of learning, which reflected his views, and under a charter secured from the state of Virginia in 1840 he established a college at Bethany, the first college in this country to use the Bible as a text book, which held its first session in 1841.

Alma Mater of Distinguished Men. Among the distinguished men who received their early training at Bethany College are: Joseph Desha, Pickens, Ark., Sept. 11.—(Special.)—The precinct chairman of the Planters' Protective Association met at the courthouse here to-day and elected T. Ninth Ward—D. R. Buckner and James Speed. Tenth Ward—W. P. Martin and Fred K. Kaiser. Eleventh Ward—Fred Ohmann and Henry Koch. Twelfth Ward—H. T. Larrimore and Joseph Emge.

A poor remnant of the big Republican convention of May 13 last, that was held at the Masonic Theater, at which the Republican city and county ticket was nominated, except for School Trustees and Councilmen, reassembled last night at the Scottish Rite Cathedral and finished the ticket. It was the intention of the leaders to have a big love feast, but the affair last night fell far short of that. Almost one-half of the delegates, mostly alternates, that were present were negroes.

Shortly after the convention opened and W. Marshall Bullitt made his brief speech of praise for the Grinstead administration, the huge frame of Mayor was seen coming up the middle aisle.

The Mayor, surrounded by some of his followers, made his way to the stage, where he was immediately introduced after a clapping of hands by some of the delegates near the stage. The Mayor made the same little speech as he has made on two previous occasions, in claiming that he and his Republican colleagues had found Louisville a desirable Sodom and had made of it a good and penitent city with an angelic police force and a fire department whose hands were not polluted.

Under his stewardship the parish grew and flourished and everyone loved the same old Winchester. No hour was too late or night too dark for him to go to any of his flock that needed his counsel and aid. He was that he was good and happy. He was active and public-spirited in his work for the betterment of the community without regard to his own.

He was called to other fields and forced to leave his old friends and neighbors in Louisville. He went to Syracuse, N. Y., where he was pastor of the Church of Our Lady of the Angels. While there the unusual honor of being elected president of the Order of Minor Conventuals was bestowed upon him. Father Miller was always hale and hearty and no one was more ready to go to his aid in any emergency. He was a man of great good story, his company was sought by everyone who knew him. Until the time when he was stricken with the fatal attack of heart disease he appeared to be in the best of health and spirits. He was only confined to his bed for a few days before he died in the St. Joseph's Hospital in Syracuse Friday. Father Miller is survived by a brother and a sister in Utica, N. Y.

The funeral will be held in the Church of the Assumption in Syracuse and many of the dignitaries of the church will be in attendance. The solemn high mass will be celebrated at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning probably by the Right Rev. Bishop of Syracuse. Father Leo Grunlich, present pastor of St. Anthony's church and lifelong friend of the dead prelate, will leave for the funeral for Syracuse to attend the funeral.

GARDNER PLAYS SPEND GAME

Youth of Nineteen Years Defeats H. Chandler Egan For Championship.

PIE FIGURES IN THE RESULT.

Loser Suffers From Acute Indigestion and Proves Unfit For Such a Gruelling Game.

NEW GOLFING MARVEL SHOWN.

HEATON, Ill., Sept. 11.—Robert E. Gardner, of Hinsdale, a clean-limbed, rosy-cheeked lad of 19 years, today won the amateur golf championship of the United States from H. Chandler Egan, of Exmoor, twice winner of national honors, four up and two to play. He is the youngest player that ever won the national championship.

Gardner had an advantage of two holes over Egan at the end of the morning round, and although Egan caught up to him, the third hole of the afternoon play and had a lead of one hole at the seventh, the gritty youngster came on again, and from that time on completely outplayed the man from Exmoor.

A nice large piece of hot apple pie figured largely in the result. Egan was the victim. He suffered from acute indigestion yesterday after lunch, and shortly after the conclusion of his long, hard match with "Chick" Evans in the semi-finals, fainted away in the locker room. He was under a physician's care part of the night, and physically he was unfit for a gruelling game, such as today's proved.

Egan's drawn face and erratic play in the first nine holes of the morning round showed how much his strength had been drawn upon, and although for the next nine holes he showed the form that has twice won for him the highest honors in golf, he could not hold the pace on nerve alone.

It was Harvard against Yale, Gardner against a sophomore at the New Haven country club, and the match was followed the match, and when the end came the 19-year-old boy had won the national championship, a crowd of the Yale field captain's friends lifted him to their shoulders, shouting with joy.

Gardner during the last nine holes of the afternoon round played golf that was simply unbeatable. Indeed, the Yale captain, who had been with the exception of four missed shots putts, was the only one who was not in the hole. The Yale captain's friends lifted him to their shoulders, shouting with joy.

Gardner during the last nine holes of the afternoon round played golf that was simply unbeatable. Indeed, the Yale captain, who had been with the exception of four missed shots putts, was the only one who was not in the hole. The Yale captain's friends lifted him to their shoulders, shouting with joy.

Albany this afternoon. The Rangers have had a challenge out for the battermen for several weeks, but they will not come together. Both teams will have their strongest lineups in the field. Herb Ashby for the locals, while Smith, the Rangers' star batsman, will oppose Ashby. Herb is in the best of form, and Capt. Rieker is confident of victory.
